No. 27

WHEREFORE THE LORD SAID, FORASMUCH AS THIS PEOPLE DRAW NEAR ME WITH THEIR MOUTHS, AND WITH THEIR LIPS DO HONOR ME, BUT HAVE REMOVED THEIR HEART FAR FROM ME, AND THEIR FEAR TOWARD ME IS TAUGHT BY THE PRECEPT OF MEN: THEREFORE, BEHOLD, I WILL PROCEED TO DO A MARVELLOUS WORK AMONG THIS PEOPLE. EVEN A MARVELLOUS WORK AND A WONDER; FOR THE WISDOM OF THEIR WISE MEN SHALL PERISH, AND THE UNDERSTANDING OF THEIR PRUDENT MEN SHALL BE HID.—Isaiah 29: 13-14.

"PRAY WITHOUT CEASING."

We are exhorted to "pray without ceasing." Are we heeding the exhortation? Are we so anxious about a genuine revival of religion that we are ceaselessly importuning God for it? If we are not praying for the revival, it is certain that we are not working for it. If we are not praying for a revival, is it probable that we feel the need of one? If we do not feel the need, is the revival likely to come into our own lives? It might come in answer to the prayers of others, and yet our own lives might be untouched. Have any of us so much religion that we need no more? May we not lose what we have if we are satisfied with it? Let us pray that the revival may begin in our own hearts, and then we shall be ready to help our neighbors. Let us begin today, and continue to pray until God answers. Let us "pray without ceasing."

CUNNING CAMOUFLAGE.

When the chairman of the Shipping Board admits that intoxicating liquors are sold on United States ships outside the three-mile limit and argues that the sale of intoxicants is necessary to obtain sufficient traffic to make the ships pay, he displays colossal ignorance, brazen effrontery, and base cunning. Not being a 100 per cent American, he is ignorant of the fact that the war of 1812 was fought to sustain the contention that an American ship is everywhere and always legally American territory. Failing to recognize the deliberate purpose of the American people to destroy all complicity with the hellish traffic, he insults American citizenship. Knowing that our ships under present absurd laws cannot successfully compete with foreign ships, he is cunningly seeking to convince the American people that the failure to make a profit is due to the lack of alcoholic beverages on our ships.

Until our people have time to think this biggest of boot-leggers may deceive them, but he will speedily discover that the vast majority of American people cannot be fooled. They intended to stop the liquor traffic wherever "Old Glory floats." They counted the cost, and knew that there would be temporary loss of revenue. They are not hypocrites, demanding one thing on land and permitting another at sea. They also know that under both Democratic and Republican administrations the Shipping Board has either connived at the grossest frauds or has been too weak to prevent them. Long ago our people lost patience with this incompetent Board, and they are not now ready to admit that it is a correct interpreter of our laws and our sentiments. A man who so misrepresents his country's institutions is either a traitor or incompetent, and should be driven from his position of trust by public scorn.

Whatever may be true of a fragment of the American people, largely foreign in their connections and sentiments, the vast majority believe in prohibition and desire that the law should be enforced and have a lively contempt for any officer who fails to do his duty. The value of prohibition can never be fully appraised until the law is adequately enforced. We believe that our citizens not only are opposed to the sale of intoxicants on American ships, but demand that foreign ships shall be required to meet the same conditions. Let us make our demands known to the President and Congress.

INDUSTRIAL WASTE

We in America, where material things abound, have been slow to realize our excessive wastefulness. If in building a house lumber or labor is wasted, the one who rents the house must pay higher rent. If in delivering coal part is lost between mine and consumer, the loss is passed on and paid by the ultimate consumer. Unless the builder or the handler recovers this loss from the consumer, the business would fail.

In a recent article in the Scientific American careful study is made of the various industries and the claim is set up that in the metal trades 27 per cent is wasted, in boots and shoes 41, in textiles 49, in building 53, in printing 58, and in men's clothing 61 per cent. It is shown that management is responsible for a large part, but labor and outside causes must bear a considerable share.

Much of the waste is due to competition where there should be co-operation. There are too many factories, but all must live, hence they overcharge whenever possible to make up for the losses due to undercharging. Trusts should be allowed, but should be supervised. Anti-trust laws are responsible for much waste. Labor organizations by curtailing production increase cost. Inefficiency is at the bottom of much loss.

It is shown that to make a certain grade of shoe in one factory requires eight hours, in another 16, in another 18, and in another 22 hours. In a certain paper mill by inexpensive changes the output was increased from 42,000 tons to 111,000 tons, and the commodity was improved. In almost every article we buy we are paying from 25 to 50 per cent too much because of inefficiency and bad management, and anti-trust laws and obstructive organizations are largely responsible. How long will we allow ourselves to be gulled? Just as long as demagogues lead in politics and labor.

MORE ABOUT THE MORALS OF YOUTH.

Last week we gave quotations from The Literary Digest, but as they were from religious editors and preachers, it might be thought that they were extreme; hence we give below opinions of a different type of observers.

A woman, editor of The Smith College Monthly, writes: "The wild young people, whose wild young ways furnished last year's moralists with a new and refreshing fad, are just the same sort of specimens that they were when first brought to light. They continue to dance and drink, and smoke and pet, and conduct themselves in precisely the ungodly manner of a year ago. The reason that at present there is not so much discussion of the degeneration of youth is simply that the public is tired of hearing about it."

The editor of the Kentucky Law Journal writes: "We see our friends and companions, both male and female, doing things and taking liberties that would have horrified them even to have thought of a few years ago."

The managing editor of the University of Pennsylvania Punch Bowl thus comments: "There can be no doubt but that young people do look upon life in general with a greatly revolutionized view. The pride of the girl of today is in the fact that she is ignorant of nothing....To the girl of today petting parties, cigaret-smoking, and in many cases drinking, are accepted as ordinary parts of existence. The girl who will not permit a kiss from any fellow who pleases her is practically nonexistent. As regards cigaret-smoking, I know that 70 to 80 per cent of the girls I am acquainted with indulge—girls of good families whose mothers may not feel inclined to accept this high percentage, but they are not with their daughters at dances, parties, etc., where smoking by girls is most common. The modern girl is an extremist. She dresses in the lightest and most flimsy of fabrics. Her dancing is often of the most passionate nature, and I believe the modern dance has done much to break down the standard of morals."

The editor of The Red and Blue, at the same University, observes: "The girls of the younger set are worse than the boys. They smoke and drink, that is, a great number of them, as though it were nothing, and staying up the whole night to dance is becoming an accustomed happening. The fellows might be to blame for the bad habits of the girls, because they encourage them more or less, and the young fellows today are much more social than they were fifty years ago."

The editor of the Albright College Bulletin, who had observed conditions in a small city in New York, writes: "Following high-school dances it was common to find young men in all-night restaurants too drunk to know what they were about."

The editor of The Sigma Chi Quarterly, referring to girls, writes: "There is more smoking and drinking among them than ever before, and 'petting' is much more common. Their dress has become more daring, and their language has lost in refinement."

REGIONAL CONFERENCE OF THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

It was the editor's privilege to attend a Regional Conference of the Anti-Saloon League for Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas, held at Oklahoma City, June 26-27.

The leading national officers were present, as were State Superintendents, and other members of State organizations, and a few others. Dr. L. A. Cooper, State Superintendent, and seven others from Arkansas attended, giving Arkansas the largest representation.

On Sunday many pulpits of the city were filled by prohibition speakers.

Dr. P. A. Baker was elected president. A telegram was sent to President Harding protesting against the public utterances of Secretary of War Weeks in which he was reported as favoring the legalizing of the sale of wine and beer.

The following addresses were made: "Law Enforcement and Legislation," by F. B. Ebbert, attorney for the Pacific Coast Department; "The Task Before Us and Team Work," by Dr. P. A. Baker, general superintendent of Anti-Saloon League of America; "The World Problem," by E. H. Cherrington, Secretary of World League against Alcoholism; "The Missionary Appeal," by Dr. H. B. Carre of Vanderbilt University; "The Relation of the Church to the League Program of Today," by Dr. E. J. Moore, assistant general superintendent of A. S. L. of America; "Place of the Church in the Law Enforcement Program," by Dr. C. B. Waller, pastor 2nd Baptist Church, Little Rock; "The American Bond," by Dr. Howard H. Russell, founder of the Anti-Saloon League of America; "Debate on Law Enforcement," by the Christgun-Langley debating team of Illinois; "Law Enforcement in Arkansas," by T. W. Rowden, federal enforcement officer for Arkansas.

Monday night at the Skirvin Hotel a banquet was given to all the visitors. Beautiful bouquets were presented to Drs. Russell and Baker and they

PERSONAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

Brother Pastor, we are counting on your help in securing renewals. You can reach your people as we cannot.

Rev. J. A. Baylor, the architectural secretary of the Board of Church Extension, has been advised of his election to membership in the American Institute of Architects.

Rev. A. E. Holloway, presiding elder of Searcy District, recommends Mr. J. L. Gillispie of McClelland, Ark., as a good song leader for revival work. He would be glad to help in protracted meetings.

Dr. Marion Lawrence has resigned as General Secretary of the International Sunday School Association. He held that position from February, 1899, until September, 1920, since which time he has been Consulting General Secretary.—Ex.

Rev. J. A. Henderson called Monday and reported that Dr. S. A. Steel, of Mansfield, La., would begin a protracted meeting in his church at Malvern on the third Sunday in July. If you can, drop in and hear Dr. Steel. He is one of our great preachers.

It takes more courage to stand for what you think is right at a time when that course is unpopular and by doing so you arouse the opposition of people of power. It has been through men and women of courage to do this that all progress has been made in civilization.—The Labor World.

There are more important things than making a little money to pile up and leave for some one else to spend after you die. If you have not moral courage you cannot respect yourself, and if you do not respect yourself, even if you have great wealth, you are poor indeed.—The Labor World.

Mr. J. T. Lupton, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has given $125,000 to Oglethorpe University (Presbyterian), Atlanta, for a library building. This is to be known as a library of Southern Literature, and when completed will probably be the most complete library of Southern literature in the world.—Ex.

The entire object of true education is to make people not merely do the right thing, but enjoy the right things; not merely industrious, but to love industry; not merely learned, but to love knowledge; not merely pure, but to love purity; not merely just, but to hunger and thirst after justice.—John Ruskin.

The United Brethren Publishing House trustees have completed plans for the enlargement of their building in Dayton, Ohio. Sixty feet more frontage and a tower of four stories will be utilized. Seven floors are leased for thirty years to a prominent dry goods store. This new building will be one of the largest in the city.—Western Christian Advocate.

Henderson-Brown College will have the large residence now occupied by President Workman for the Senior class of next year. This releases a number of rooms in the main building and increases the rooming capacity in the girls' dormitory. There is plenty of room for all who wish to come. Reservations are far in advance of any previous year at this date.

Married, Friday, June 23, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. F. S. Scott, 1609 West 23rd St., Little Rock, the Rev. Edward Forrest, pastor of Gardner Memorial Church, North Little Rock, and Miss Gertrude Ledbetter, a near relative of the Scotts, Rev. W. R. Harrison, pastor of 28th Street Church, officiating. A large number of friends and relatives was present.

A self-made millionaire once remarked to an intimate friend: "I'm sorry that I am rich. My two sons at college have discovered that I have lots of money and they have started to kick up high-jinks, and I'm afraid they're in danger of never amounting to anything. They apparently feel that it isn't necessary for them to learn to earn their own living."—Forbes Magazine.

A letter from Mrs. Culpepper reports the death of her husband, Rev. C. H. Culpepper, at the Davis Hospital, Pine Bluff, June 11. He was happy and ready to go. His body was buried by the Masons near Rison, his boyhood home. He had been an active and useful itinerant, but located some years ago. His widow is living in loneliness in the old home and rejoices in the hope of meeting him in the better world.

Two years ago, when the Graduate School of Education was established in Harvard University, the doors were opened in that University for the first time to women. Among the graduates this year was Mrs. M. E. Mitchell of Conway, whose husband, Lieutenant Mitchell, is on duty at Navy Yard Boston. Mrs. Mitchell will be remembered as Miss Dora Otis who for five years was one of our missionaries in China.

According to the most ascertainable figures the government and people of the United States have given to Russia somewhere around one hundred million dollars. All the countries of Europe combined have not given a tenth as much, yet their statesmen are continually bellowing that America must do more. Other than Great Britain all the nations of Europe seem to have become "pan-handlers."—The Labor World.

Typographical errors occur in even the most carefully edited papers. Sometimes they are quite amusing and once in a while have considerable point. A certain church reported, through its church paper, that it would dispense with preaching on account of the "stringency" of the times, but the printer set it up "stingency," and, because it was such a small mistake he did not take the trouble to correct it.—Evangelical.

The cheapest big job the United States has pulled off in a long while was the Arms Limitation Conference. It cost $252,000, minus an unexpended balance of $350, and will save this country about 1 1-2 billion dollars in the next ten years. The largest expense item was $68,689 for salaries. Official entertainments cost $9,356, stationery and supplies $12,000, telephone, telegraph and cable $4,453. Mighty cheap for the money.—The Labor World.

My plant is small and my employees can organize for better working conditions, but I do not propose to have them organize for sinister purposes and be taught that they must get justice out of me with a club. I want them to trust my sense of honor. I have so much faith in my employees that they can look at my books—and they have many times.—John E. Edgerton, president Lebanon (Tenn.) Woolen Mills, and president National Association of Manufacturers.

The most decorated man in Britain in said to be Sir Eric Geddes, who traveled a rough road in his early years, spent in America. But he has consistently declined to accept any title which would descend to his family. A friend recently asked him why. He replied: "I don't want my oldest son or any of my other sons to get anything that they didn't earn themselves. I want them to look up to the decorations and titles and other forms of recognition that my work has received, and say to themselves, 'My dad earned these. It is up to me to see what I can earn.'"—Forbes Magazine.

and others made addresses on various phases of the history and work of the Anti-Saloon League.

It was agreed that prohibition had accomplished much, but that the liquor people were better organized than ever before and were making a tremendous fight to discredit prohibition and to secure the election of Congressmen and members of State legislatures who would modify the Volstead law. It is necessary to inform our people of the danger and keep up the agitation until such time as the law has been fully demonstrated to be a success. It is highly important that our churches understand the situation; hence the pulpits should ever be open to representatives of the League and contributions should still be made to maintain the organization and promote its work.

It was an inspiration to hear Drs. Russell, Baker, Moore, and Cherrington, the great leaders who had, since the founding of the League twenty-nine years ago, been able to carry to success this great reform. If we are faithful to the cause of prohibition, it is almost certain that in another generation the whole world will be freed from the curse of drunkenness.

The following resolutions were adopted:

1. We emphatically insist upon the strict enforcement, subject to the jurisdiction of this government, of the United States in every foot of territory, subject to the jurisdiction of his government, including all ships flying the American flag and all foreign ships entering American harbors.

We favor the adoption of a law to exclude all ships selling or possessing beverage intoxicants from entering our ports so far as existing treaties will permit.

2. We urge Congress and the State legislatures to pass such additional legislation as may be necessary to carry out both the letter and the spirit of the prohibition amendment.

3. We commend all officials who are fearlessly doing their full duty in the enforcement of the law and we earnestly appeal to every loyal citizen to support unreservedly these officials.

4. We do most earnestly protest against public utterance so officials, especially of those in the executive or judicial department of our government, in favor of wine and beer.

Such utterances are in violation of the oath of office to support the Constitution of the United States these officials solemnly took.

They encourage lawlessness and are disloyal to the fundamental law of the nation.

The only consistent and patriotic course for such officials to take is to support by word and deed the constitutional policy of this nation or else make room for those who will.

5. We do most heartily approve of the proposed reorganization of the federal enforcement department creating a separate bureau which shall have committed to it the enforcement of the prohibition amendment.

6. We realize the imperative necessity of a great campaign of education in the interest of law and sobriety, therefore we strongly endorse the program of the proposed department of the League—the American Bond—projected for the purpose of reviving the spirit of loyalty to the nation, the constitution and the flag.

We call upon the church to quicken its efforts, for the great task ahead and increasingly to support the League in its constantly enlarging program.

7. The eyes of the world are upon America today. In the economical, political, social, moral and religious life, the nations of the earth are looking to America for guidance, help and leadership.

The church cannot, she must not, fail in the hour of her opportunity.

We give our hearty approval of the action of the officials of the Anti-Saloon League of America in the part they have taken, first in the organization and since in the promotion of the World League Against Alcoholism, to carry the gospel of temperance, sobriety and prohibition of the liquor traffic to the ends of the earth.

CONTRIBUTIONS.

THE CHURCH PAPER.

We give in another place the action of the General Conference in the interest of the Conference Organ. Why is the General Conference so interested in these papers? What is the purpose of the Church paper? Why should it be circulated among the people?

A church paper is not maintained for its own sake. It has no value apart from the end it is to serve. It is not merely to add another enterprise to the list of the church's enterprises, nor to provide a job for somebody who otherwise would be without a job.

There is a vast difference between a mere membership, and an informed membership. People cannot be in sympathy with things of which they have no knowledge. They cannot be interested in things of which they have not heard. They cannot be enlisted in causes that have not been explained to them. They do not attend meetings of which they know nothing. They will not contribute their money to things the value of which they do not understand. The difference between a careless, indifferent, unenlisted member and one who is eager to have a share in every good work of the church, is usually the difference between an informed and an uninformed member.

The church paper goes into the homes of the people week after week, loaded with information and with exhortation and inspiration. It gives information concerning the men and women of the church; what they are trying to do for Christ; what meetings they are holding for the promotion of the cause; what enterprises they have started that the kingdom may be established throughout the world. It goes as the advocate of the church and of everything it is trying to do. It stands for the college, the Sunday School, the Bible publication and distribution, for missions, for church building, for temperance, for everything the church stands for. It explains things, it tells about things, it gets the people interested in things.

There is nothing else that does this work. It goes every week. It does not depend on the weather. It goes whether the family be sick or well.

busy or otherwise, if they have company or alone, and it carries something for every member of the family. There is nothing that takes its place.

No church can afford to let its membership remain ignorant; therefore, it should put the paper in every home. It will pay. There will be greater interest, larger contributions, and more church workers. Try it out and see. The money spent in this way is the best sort of investment.—Central Methodist.

WHAT ABOUT THIS MAN?

I write of a place and a man. The place is within the bounds of an Arkansas Conference, though there are similar places in other Conferences. The man is a supply, though he has many like him in the ranks of the itinerant ministry. His predecessor was in the regular itinerary.

It was Sunday when I dropped into the little mountain town. I asked the hotel man about churches. I was told that there was a Methodist church there, but that "This ain't meetin' day." Wednesday night came; no prayer meeting. Thursday evening I walked down to the church for a look-over and for a chance to meet the pastor. "Down" is the word. From physical indications, the path to the church might well be likened to the famous road from Jerusalem to Jericho. A self-respecting Ford would hesitate to negotiate the road down to that church in the wilderness.

The door was open—and so was everything else. Through the floor I could see the earth. Through the walls I could see the surrounding neighborhood. Through the roof I might have seen the heavens, for evidences of rain were plentiful. More than half of the windows were paneless. Newspapers had been pasted over the openings. The rusty old wood stove stood on the floor, while the pipe, which had fallen, lay in sections about the room. I tried the organ. It positively refused to utter a sound. I was told later that an "anti-organ" congregation uses the church and that their influence had operated to defeat the efforts of the orthodox to have the instrument "fixed." After looking it over I had a suspicion that some theological Bolshevik had fixed it for keeps.

I sought the pastor in the yellow bungalow on the opposite hillside. I found him in his garden, desperately fighting weeds in his peanut patch. He explained that he had been busy in his crop and had not had time to attend the institute, which I had been conducting, though he recognized his duty to do. Yes, he explained, he was making a crop. He had come to the circuit expecting a salary of $610, but to date, seven months after coming, he had received $40. As an honest man he proposed to pay his store debts even if the church did not pay him what it promised and owed. (I am speaking for him—not quoting.)

We talked awhile about the work of the circuit and I went back to the hotel. I was not very comfortable the rest of the evening. I could not help asking myself, "Is it fair? Is it fair that my church should ask men and their families to make such sacrifices while we make so few and such little ones?"

And I am still asking myself the question. We preach and teach the doctrine of sacrifice, but I am afraid we expect the other fellow to do most of the sacrificing. Only a few weeks ago I heard a good man arguing against the proposed policy of requiring our bishops to live within their districts. It was urged that it is not fair to ask a bishop to leave his home and here else—that it was not

PINE BLUFF.

Recently at the evening service the Junior Missionary Society of Hawley Memorial Church had their quarterly mite box opening. A good crowd was present and enjoyed the program rendered by the children. We had the mite box drill and the girls made a pretty picture with their crowns and with names of different nations and candles lighting the scene as each spoke appropriate verses.

The Cradle Roll, or Baby Division, was a pretty scene. With the larger girls holding babies and the smaller children marching on platform with their dolls in arms. A group of them carried the picture of the babies in a frame which was hung by the Supt. of the Dept. They sang and gave readings and one little girl gave the Cradle Roll prayer.—Mrs. M. Powell, Supt., Hawley Memorial Church.

HOPE AUXILIARY.

The memory of the all-day session of the Mission Study Class, of the fair to his wife to ask her to break away from her social life to go with her husband. Judging from the action taken at General Conference I infer that the argument was considered sound—that no such sacrifice should be demanded of a bishop and his family. Maybe so; I do not pretend to know. But we ask dozens of men to take their wives and little ones to out-of-the-way places where we ourselves would not think of living, and we expect them to stay until the bishop moves them. To their glory be it said that, almost without exception, these humble heralds of the Cross and their no less heroic wives go where they are sent and do their humble best.

I have no disposition either to extol these men beyond what is just and seemly or to reflect in any way upon those who work in more favored fields. My only purpose in penning these lines is to remind the church that it is just possible that we are not bearing our full share of the sacrifice that must be made to put into effect our Lord's instructions, to make disciples of all nations—including our own. Shall we let a few devoted souls do the work we would shrink from and make no more effort than we usually make to lighten their load?—J. P. Womack.

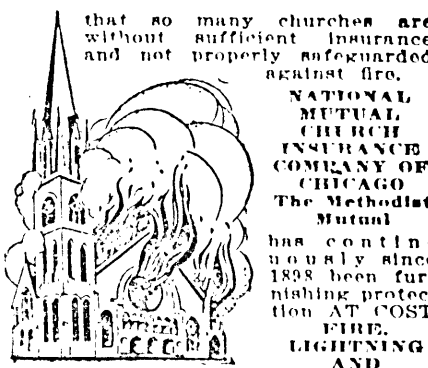

Woman's Missionary Society, which was held on Tuesday, June 27, will abide long with the 14 members who met at the palatial home of the superintendent, Mrs. R. M. Briant, and completed the study of the book, "Women and Missions."

The entire day from the singing of the opening hymn, "Lead On Oh King Eternal," to the closing prayer, late in the afternoon, was an intellectual and spiritual feast.

The morning devotional, conducted by Mrs. John H. Arnold, was a beautiful lesson taken from the book of Exodus, the subject thought being to act on the faith, which we as Christians have.

The lesson study, under the capable supervision of Mrs. Briant, was begun, and the countries of Mexico, Cuba

Hendrix College proposes to maintain a high class Academy which combines the advantages of connection with a great college and of separate grounds, buildings and faculty for the Academy. The advantages of being a part of a strong college are access to college lectures, entertainments, activities, hospitals, and a stimulating college atmosphere; supervised study hall both day and night, and personal supervision of Academy dormitory by Academy teachers residing in the dormitory.

These conditions will secure the maximum educational and moral results. This is the first time that the people of Arkansas have been offered this high type of an Academy. For information address: The President's Office, and Africa, and the mission work being accomplished there, was ably discussed by Mesdames W. W. Johnson, C. F. Bell and John A. Arnold.

The noontide devotional, conducted by Mrs. T. R. Billingsley, was the most inspirational hour of the day. She gave a most vivid and beautiful portrayal of trust, and what we as Christians, can claim, if we place our entire trust in Jesus.

The guests were then invited into the dining room, which was beautifully and attractively arranged in lovely summer flowers. A most tempting and delicious luncheon was served. The hostess was graciously assisted in caring for her guests by Mrs. O. A. Graves, and Miss Annie Mae Graves.

After a short noon-tide recess, the class again assembled in the spacious living room, and after the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers," a most helpful devotional was conducted by Mrs. R. M. Briant, after which the following topics were ably discussed by the following ladies. "Answering the Home Call," Mrs. T. R. Billingsley; "Holding Institute, Virginia K. Johnson Home, Vashti Home," Mrs. D. B. Thompson; "A Work of Social Evangelism," Mrs. F. F. White; "Christian Americanization in the City Centers," Mrs. Alonzo Monk; "Bethlehem House," Mrs. S. B. Dildy; "Scarritt Bible and Training School," Mesdames A. L. Johnson and R. L. Broach; "A Challenge to the Church," Mrs. R. M. LaGrone.

As a fitting close to this "perfect day," Mrs. D. B. Thompson gave of festively "Womanhood's Great Adventure."

The members of the class thoroughly enjoyed every hour of the day, which was profitably spent in learning more of the great mission work being accomplished by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Southern Methodist Church in foreign and home lands.—Mrs. R. L. Broach, Secretary.

DISTRICT MEETING AT MIDLAND HEIGHTS.

The Ft. Smith District meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society convened June 20, in the Methodist Church at Midland Heights, Mrs. N. C. Faber of Van Buren, District Secretary, presiding.

Devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Faber, after reading a scripture lesson, she made an impressive talk.

Mrs. R. A. Dowdy of Batesville, Conference Cor. Secy., gave a talk on "The Outlook of the Work in the Conference."

Mrs. Faber gave a talk on "The Outlook of the work in the district." After these splendid talks reports from the auxiliaries were given by the delegates. These reports gave an outline of the fine work being done in the District. Mrs. Sheiff of Midland Heights stressed the importance of the Junior Work, giving helpful suggestions about interesting the children.

Mrs. George W. Johnson of Greenwood made a splendid talk on "Attracting the Women of the Church to the Missionary Work." Her entire paper will be found elsewhere. Mrs. Frank Morgan of Fort Smith, handled the Social Service problems with great ability, telling of the extensive work done in this department in Fort Smith. Mrs. Jacks, of Midland Heights, favored the conference with a touching solo. Mrs. W. A. Steele, Conference Treasurer, told us about our finances.

It was my pleasure to talk on our study class and publicity work.

Mrs. Dowdy talked on the general work of the Society, which was timely and profitable.

On invitation the next district meeting will be held at First Church, Ft. Smith.

The Midland Heights ladies proved, as they have done before, their ability as hostesses. They left nothing undone to make the day a real pleasure to all present. The 12 o'clock luncheon was served in the dining room of the community house. The luncheon was delicious and bounteous. All delegates and visitors had praises on their lips for the ladies of Midland Heights.

Mrs. Faber closed the day's session by urging that we go forward in all lines of work in our District, and with an optimistic view of organizing more Societies. Taken as a whole, I pronounce it one of the very best District meetings I ever attended.—Mrs. Jno. W. Bell.

LITTLE ROCK CONFERENCE HONOR ROLL.

Since our last report six charges have reached their full apportionment for Sunday School Day and hence their pastor's names go on our Conference Honor Roll. They are:

Central, Hot Springs, Rev. M. S. Monk, pastor.

Traskwood Circuit, Rev. Percy Vaughan, pastor.

First Church, Little Rock, Rev. P. C. Fletcher, pastor.

Bearden, Rev. F. G. Roebuck, pastor.

Columbus Circuit, Rev. S. B. Mann, pastor.

Dierks, Rev. J. L. Leonard, pastor.

And so it goes. Our fine Circuit pastors are right up in the front beside our leading city pastors. They are all in the fight to put the Little Rock Conference in first place again on Sunday School Day offerings. A few charges did not go over the top the first round but they are going after a second offering. No charge has given up yet. Let's make it unanimous. Let's have every pastor's name on the Honor Roll at Conference. And won't that be a feast for the eyes of our new Sunday School Bishop who comes to preside over our Conference this fall.—Clem Baker, Secretary.

FIFTY-TWO OFFERINGS SINCE OUR LAST REPORT.

Our great chairman, Mr. C. E. Hayes, had a fire last week and did not get in his report to the Methodist. But they are all in this week save two or three checks which were received on Saturday afternoon after the banks were closed. Now read this wonderful report he has for the past two weeks. Is it not a great list? Look at that $26.00 from New Salem where L. T. Rogers is pastor; that $20.00 from F. G. Roebuck at Bearden; that $27.50 offering from Fairview where Brother Dickerson preaches this year; that $12.35 from old Fostina down on Brother Nabor's work; that $10.00 offering from Traskwood sent in by Percy Vaughan; that $75.00 from Bro. Monk at Central; that $200.00 from Dr. Fletcher at great old First Church and all the rest too numerous to mention yet representing the same kind of loyalty and cooperation as these larger offerings. Read again that long list from the Prescott and Texarkana Districts and then thank your stars, Brother, that you belong to a Conference like the Little Rock that knows how to get behind a big job and put it over in spite of obstacles. It makes a fellow feel big to be associated with a bunch of men like the Little Rock Conference pastors, superintendents, and presiding elders even though he tips the scales at only 125 pounds.—Clem Baker, Secretary.

ALL ABOARD FOR JUNALUSKA.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad has announced a rate of $32.50 round trip to Junaluska from Little Rock. The Junaluska Special Pullman will leave Little Rock at 2:10 Tuesday afternoon, July 11. Let all who plan to go on this Pullman notify me not later than Saturday, July 8. Rates at Junaluska can be secured at $12.00 per week—room and board. The Sunday School Conference lasts two weeks. You will never regret going to Junaluska. The program this year is richer than ever.—Clem Baker, Secretary.

NOW YOU HAVE DONE IT.

Did you ever hear a mother say to her boy, "Don't do that Johnnie, that will make you sick." Then some time later the boy came in with a chill, and mother said, "Now you've done it. I told you what it would do for you."

Several months ago we said that this year would see the greatest Epworth League Assembly at Arkadelphia we have had, and urged pastors to send large numbers of their young people, and we can say as did the mother to her boy, only in a different spirit, "Now you've done it."

We asked you to send the largest number, and we had the largest crowd we have ever had. There were one hundred and fifty present at the opening banquet Monday night June 19, and they kept coming on every train until two hundred out-of-town delegates were registered.

You were urged to send the most reliable young people in your Church, and we can say, Verily, verily, we had the finest type of young people this year of any year. The finest spirit was manifested in all work and play. If any one was disappointed they said nothing about it. If any one had any complaints they didn't make them. You would have to travel long and far to find another such crowd.

You were urged to send Junior and Intermediate superintendents instead of the members of these departments and you did this also. It might be of interest to you to know that these Departments show a greater gain in membership and work throughout the Church than any other Department. We shall write of this later.

Pastors were urged to drop in on the Assembly and see what was being done and a larger number did this than in former years. A number of

This year eleven chapters won Gold Seal Certificates for 100 per cent work as compared with six last year.

The Class Work in Missions and the Methods of the different Departments was well attended and a large number made two credits and many made one credit toward a Christian Culture Diploma. This Diploma means sixty hours creditable class work. A credit is given for ten hours' work, and some delegates made twenty hours' work during the Assembly.

The stunts were the best which have ever been pulled off in Henderson-Evergreen College, and were witnessed by the largest crowd from Arkadelphia. While entertaining each was thought-provoking.

You did this. You made it possible by sending your young people. You stirred up such interest that it not only sounded all over Arkansas, so that Rev. Byron Harwell of the North Arkansas Conference came down to see what it was all about, but it even sounded out over Texas Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and it has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. and Mr. Jess Morris, president of the North Texas Conference Epworth League came over to Arkansas to investigate, and these distinguished gentlemen said some nice things about your Assembly.

"Now you have done it." The only trouble next year will be finding room to care for the delegates. We are on the eve of the greatest growth in the Epworth League interest in our Conference. Our young people are just awakening to their ability to do things for Christ and our country, and all countries. What you have done for your young people you have done for Arkansas. Thank you one and all for the splendid co-operation we have only tried to do the work you have placed on us. It is yours as much as ours. It encourages us when we know we have your hearty support.—S. THIRD ASSEMBLY OF LITTLE ROCK EPWORTH LEAGUE CON- FERENCE

Boom! No it was not dynamite; just Johnnie George taking a splash light picture of a well filled banquet room. At this opening banquet of the third Assembly of the Little Rock Epworth League Conference, every name of those who were present was called and every one was introduced.

Every day of this, our best Assembly was full of good things. There was not a single idle or dull moment. The speakers and teachers (with just one exception) were of the finest. The platform addresses were just the kind to entertain and instruct. We not only had inspirational addresses to make us want to do better work, but we had practical lessons showing us how to do this work.

The early Bible talks by Mrs. Steel prepared us for the day. Perhaps these early studies by Mrs. Steel and the Vesper talks by Mrs. Workman helped to type the whole Assembly more than any other factors. Many of us would like for Mrs. Workman to write and publish lectures from the subjects upon which she talked.

Illuminating and inspiring were the messages upon the "Athletes of the Bible" as given in our Bible hours. Brothers Trimble and Hundley came very near our lives with these fine talks. No feature of the entire Assembly was so thrilling as was the consecration service led by Bro. Reyes. Nearly a hundred of Arkansas' best were in the altar ready to do God's will, where ever He calls them. Just about a score of new life-service volunteers were signed up in this service.

There was plenty of fun and frolic with hard work and true worship to make it all an enjoyable and profitable occasion. Of course, we will all be there again for each year is better.—Jess Galloway.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF THIRD DEPARTMENTS, TAKE NOTICE.

Your standard of Efficiency in requirement 10, calls for a plan of recreational activities. I am sure you will not forget this when planning for your new year's work. Sit down now and write out the plan or the policy for your department. You cannot have a gold seal without this plan, neither can your department count for much without it. Some good suggestions will be published from the results of the study of this department in the Assembly.—Jess Galloway.

STICK TO IT.

Stick to it, boy,
Through the thick and the thin of it.
Work for the joy
That is born of the din of it.
Failures beset you,
But don't let them fret you;
Dangers are lurking,
But just keep on working.
If it's worth while and you're sure of the right of it,
Stick to it, boy, and make a real fight of it.

Stick to it, lad,
Be not frail and afraid of it;
Stand to the gad
For the man to be made of it.
Deaf to the sneering
And blind to the jeering,
Willing to master
The present disaster.
Stick to it lad, through the trial and test of it,
Patience and courage will give you the best of it.

Stick to it, youth,
Be not sudden to fly from it;
This is the truth,
Triumph may not far lie from it.
Dark in the morning
Before the sun's dawning,
Battered and sore of it,
Bear a bit more of it.

WHAT OF YOUR BOY?

R. K. MORGAN, Principal Morgan School, Petersburg, Tenn.

His education and training, and the development of his mind, body, and character depends on you, his parent. It is a grave responsibility, for there are so many antagonistic influences that come into play in a boy's life. As every boy looks back over his education and training he can always point out some one influence, some one life that has had a more profound influence. To thousands of boys this influence has been the guiding spirit, the personal association and the inspiring character of Mr. Robert K. Morgan, principal of Morgan School for twenty-five years. He knows boy nature. The close personal associations which he has fostered between his boy students and himself, his carefully chosen faculty, his careful attention to the boy's work, his thoughts, his talents, and his special needs, have given great prominence to his school and have characterized the success that he has merited in successfully shaping the lives of thousands of youths at the shaping age.

A postal card to Mr. L. I. Mills, Secretary Morgan School, Petersburg, Tenn. will bring you a catalogue and full information about this school.

Stick to it, even though blacker than ink it is, Victory's nearer, perhaps, than you think it is!—Edgar A. Guest, in Good Housekeeping.

A DOG THAT SWAM GUARD.

Shep was a black-and-tan Scotch collie. One day he went with the family and some friends to the little stream just below our camp grounds. The children were going bathing, and Shep was very fond of the water. So he swam back and forth in the stream, just at the edge of the swift current, and would not allow the children to get into the swift water.

This was commented on by the older persons, but a skeptical lad said it was not so. Then, to show he was right, he went out to the swift water and tried to get past Shep. This he could not do. Shep, however, in his efforts to keep the lad back, got into the swift current, and was swept down stream; but he soon returned and took his old station, where he continued to swim guard over the children as before.—Christian World.

A BEAUTIFUL CUSTOM.

In the mountains of Tyrol it is the custom of the women and children to come out when it is the close of the day and sing. Their husbands, fathers and brothers answer them from the hills on their way homeward. On the shores of the Adriatic such a custom prevails. There, the wives of the fishermen come down about sunset and sing a melody. After singing the first stanza they listen awhile for an answering melody from off the water, and continue to sing and listen until the well known voices come borne on the waters, telling that the loved one is almost home. How sweet to the weary fishermen, as the shadows gather around him, must be the songs of the loved ones at home that sing to cheer him, and how they must strengthen and tighten the links that bind together these dwellers by the sea.—Exchange.

HOT SPRINGS CIRCUIT.

As the revival season is drawing near, for our first begins two weeks from this date, we earnestly ask the prayers of all the church in our behalf. We are expecting great success during this season.

We have observed Sunday School Day at the following places: New Salem, Bethlehem and Gum Springs. All had nice programs, and well rendered with forty-three dollars collected. One other yet to observe.—L. T. Rogers, Pastor.

AN APPEAL FOR THE BLIND.

I am anxious to reach the parent or guardian of every blind child in this state. I have reason to believe that there are children in the state who should be in the Arkansas School for the Blind, but whose parents or guardians do not feel the importance of educating them. I appeal to every preacher, teacher, officer, and all interested in the welfare of the blind, to write me the names and post office of such children within their knowledge that I may correspond with them. The Arkansas School for the Blind is the only place in the state where a blind child may obtain an education. It is a great blessing to any blind child to enter this school. It is not only a school, but a happy home during the eight school months of each year. Board, tuition and books are furnished, by the state, free to all, and clothing and railway fare to those unable to pay.—George Thornburgh, Superintendent.

BRYANT CIRCUIT.

The protracted meetings of the circuit will be held as follows:

Congo, July 16-21.

Mt. Carmel, July 23-30.

Bryant, Aug. 2-11.

New Hope, Aug. 13-18.

Salem Camp Meeting, Aug. 25-Sept.

4. Sardis, Sept. 8-15.

Alexander, Oct. 22-29.

Rev. T. M. Armstrong of Hazen will assist in the meeting at Bryant. Rev. J. A. Henderson of Malvern will assist in the Camp meeting at Salem. Rev. J. T. Rodgers of Bauxite will assist in the meeting at Sardis.

You are cordially invited to attend any of the above meetings for we are expecting and praying for a good revival at each place.—J. C. Johnson, Pastor.

PERRY

We are in what promises to be a good meeting at Perry. Rev. J. T. Gossett, our pastor at Huntington, is doing the preaching and his daughter, Miss Tommie, is directing the singing. They are each doing fine work. We had a splendid meeting here soon after Conference from which we received about forty members, but there is much to be done yet. We begin our meeting at Houston the third Sunday in July with Rev. C. H. Bumpers doing the preaching and at Bigelow the first Sunday in August with Rev. W. F. Blevins, our Hartford pastor, leading.

We very much need and are expecting real revivals throughout the entire charge.—G. E. Patchell, P. C.

DON'T PICKLE YOUR BOOKS!

Don't pickle your books. Cucumbers may be put in a firkin and stored in the dark back cellar. But books are for constant use, and should be in sight and within reach. Ornamental books are often blocks of wood. They are just as good and better, if books are sought as ornaments. There are ornamental hired men but books must work.

They should be old friends and welcomed to the easiest seat and next the fire. The home maker should be familiar enough with books to shake hands with them, kiss them and wipe the dust from their faces. A book is a well or spring, you drank yesterday, your visitors drink to-day, and there is no less water for to-morrow. Books cheer up a home always and sometimes brilliantly.

After the Bible, the need of selection is apparent; for the fertility of the farm, the profits of the store, the cost and taste of the meals, the attendance at church, the cut of the clothes, the conversation and music, the friendship and love, and the good deeds will be the harvest of good books sown about the living rooms. Show a visitor the used book near the lamp, and he will be fully introduced to the reader and his or her family. A person is known by the company he keeps. Books are companions to the wise and useful Christian.—Russell H. Conwell in Epworth Herald.

NEW ILLUSTRATED LECTURES

The National Child Welfare Association, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City, announces three illustrated lectures under the titles, "Child Welfare Everybody's Business," "Makers of American Ideals," and "Warfare or Welfare," for churches, schools and general community gatherings. Each lecture has fifty colored slides and is arranged for use as a special feature of a regular program or as a complete program for a special meeting.

"Child Welfare—Everybody's Business" points out that the most effective child welfare endeavors can be promoted in any community by the simple device of cultivating the normal child's natural inclinations and interests. "Makers of American Ideals" helps young and old to realize their debt to those who have striven for the establishment of America's great ideals and to inspire them with a resolve to pay that debt. "Warfare or Welfare" tells of the nation's endeavors for public betterment through many agencies and suggests what might be accomplished if a part of the money and energy now spent for war purposes were to be devoted to constructive welfare activities. The lectures are available by purchase or rental.
