SPIRITUAL POWER IN BUSINESS

IN the May Review of Reviews is a valuable article by Roger W. Babson, the spiritually minded adviser of business men. Commenting on the latter half of the sixth chapter of Matthew, he says: "Jesus told his followers that there is nothing in hustle and bustle, striving and worrying, buying and borrowing, but rather success comes from listening to that still small voice 'and then all these other things shall be added unto you.' Of course, this was written two thousand years ago, and has been vamped and revamped many times since; but the point is clearly evident. It is that all these material things which men think are necessary are as nothing compared with the spiritual power of making correct decisions and carrying them out. Yes, this 'something' is a spiritual power which is the real determining factor for success. Moreover, this spiritual power to make correct decisions is not secured by college degrees, capital investments, or great organizations; but rather through quiet study, sane prayer, and earnest desire to bring about the Kingdom of God on earth. The men having these qualities are the men who made America; and our difficulties today are due to the lack of them."

Then he advises: "The solution of your personal business problem is to spend more time in meditation and less in consultation; to devote more energy to study and less energy to ballyhoo; to give more time to praying in secret and less time to pleading with bankers; to read more of the classics and less of the newspapers; in short, to turn over a new leaf. If you are in a business for which you cannot conscientiously pray for success, then you must depend upon luck, rather than upon acquiring this 'something.' If, however, you are in a business which is adding its bit to making a healthier, safer, happier, or more comfortable world, then determine that you will get the spiritual power of making correct decisions and carrying them out."

AN ENGLISHMAN'S OPINION OF PROHIBITION

IN the British Weekly (London) an English traveler is thus quoted: "At least once a week I read in some English newspaper or a review a statement to the effect that prohibition in America is a failure, that prohibition does not prohibit, and that the whole country is flooded with alcoholic liquor. There are just two things to be said about this. In the first place, we must remember that the liquor trade is the most powerful and the most elaborately organized trade in the world, with a system of propaganda that is as unscrupulous as it is clever. And in the second place, we may well reflect that Americans are the last people in the world to tolerate a failure. When anything fails to work they scrap it promptly and finally. During the past two years I have traveled through America from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and I have spent many weeks in New York, and I venture to affirm that prohibition is a success, and has come to stay. The saloon has gone, never to return—about that there is no shadow of doubt. Whatever the attitude to national and total prohibition may be, I have yet to meet a man who wants to see the saloon back. All real estate in the neighborhood of the old saloons has increased enormously in value, for no one wanted to live or do business anywhere near a saloon. . . . Of course, the law is broken, but is anybody going to suggest that the breaking of a law is any reason for its repeal. We do not think of cancelling a law against murder because some people still persist in committing murders. Give America time and she will see that her laws are enforced. We need not be surprised if there is some opposition to prohibition, for the liquor trade knows perfectly well what it is up against. It knows that if prohibition succeeds in America other countries may adopt it as an economic necessity, owing to the impossibility of competing with a sober country—whereas, if it fails, no other nation will ever face the difficult experiment. So the liquor trade is fighting, and it is not over-particular about its weapons. Before the days of national prohibition it was all too active in smuggling liquor into the dry States. It talks loudly about the personal liberty of the masses, but what it is really concerned about is the making of dividends out of the devastating infirmities of its victims."

"THE IDIOTIC ERA"

UNDER the above caption, in an article in the May Review of Reviews, Irving Bacheller, the novelist, says some things as strong and lurid as Sam Jones might if he were with us today. You will read with interest some of his pungent paragraphs.

"I wonder if the last twenty years are not to be known as 'the idiotic era.' It began with the birth of an idiotic enterprise, in which we all had a part—that of dissipating the wealth and manhood of the world. The seed of this harvest was, I think, the philosophy of Nietzsche. That was the beginning of a destructive literature. War ended, but our folly continued. A universal passion for gambling developed. We were all trying to get rich by swapping horses. Soon every horse in every stable was spavined and had to be turned into the pasture to recover his strength. We call it depression, and yet I wonder if that is the right word. Is it not a breaking down of foundations in the spirit of humanity—a respect for honor and good faith?"

"Men have suffered a tremendous loss of faith in their brothers in morality and religion. This has led to a hastening ill called 'biological degeneration.' It produces bandits, kidnapers, corrupt judges, dope peddlers, shocking and innumerable crimes. We find that liberated hands and passions are closely related to liberated intellects. First came the creation of a false philosophy and a vile literature, the effect of which permeated every layer of our life. A lawless spirit was the far-spread result. . . . The gang raiders of the great cities are the worst symptoms of our public health. They are not exclusively the product of the slums."

"I have much faith in the United States and Canada. If we were all one great New York or one great Chicago, we should have fallen into the pit. The process of biological degeneration works overtime in the big cities. But the majority of our people—those of the farms and villages and smaller cities of the West and South—they, let us hope, are mainly good human material."

"The ladies have changed. I hate to hear women shout; yet many have reached that high degree of self-assertion. They want to be heard. The old sanctions are to many of them a joke. The children have changed. They are full of hurried wisdom. The fruit of the tree picked before it is ripe is worse than green apples. Streams of burning love flood through our houses every day.

Much of it is gummy, oozy, saccharine love. . . . The radio room is often like the wailing wall in Jerusalem. Men with lady voices take up the refrain and fill the house with crooning love sobs. Niagaras of crack-brained mush pouring into our ears at home and at the theater. The clear, crystal stream of youth is roiled and thick with mud at its bottom. I wonder if love and sex are really in need of this free advertising."

He concludes: "We must have order, honest, courts, effective good faith on the part of state and municipal governments in fulfilling their contract to protect the lives and property of our citizens. These are an essential part of the weakened foundations of our life."

THE PAPER PROBLEM

THE General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, recently in session at Atlantic City, wrestled with the paper problem. During the preceding quadrennium their official organs had cost $400,000 more than their income. They decided to merge several papers, and dropped those at Chicago, Pittsburgh, Portland, Oregon, and Athens, Tenn., leaving those at New York, Cincinnati, Kansas City, and San Francisco. Dr. Claudius B. Spencer, who had been the brilliant editor of the paper at Kansas City for 32 years, retired on account of infirmities, and Dr. Dan B. Brummitt, formerly at Chicago, took Dr. Spencer's place, and thus becomes the editor of the organ for this area. We regret to lose Dr. Spencer from the editorial fraternity, as he has been one of our keenest critics and best friends, but we are pleased to have Dr. Brummitt more closely related, as he was once pastor of the church in this city and is our warm personal friend.

During the debate, it was brought out that consolidation of papers has not usually resulted in strengthening them. The combined papers of the Canadian Church now have fewer subscribers than the one Methodist paper had before the union of the churches. Undoubtedly the best method for maintaining denominational papers is to concentrate in small areas and put the paper in every home in that area. This can be done if pastors will convince their people of the necessity of reading church literature to know what the Church is doing.

THE SUMMER OZARKS

ATTENDING a very interesting session of the S. W. Soil and Conservation Conference last week, I had opportunity to see Mt. Sequoyah in all of its late spring-time glory. Always beautiful, just now it is unusually attractive. Supt. Yancey has secured two camp periods for Boy Scouts, and the grounds and buildings were being prepared for their reception. A small fish pond, with gold-fish and perch will please little folks. The unfinished first floor of the fine Woman's Building is being completed and will be ready for the regular sessions. As there are several unusual programs, it is expected that, in spite of the "repression," the attendance will equal or surpass that of last year.

On another page is Fayetteville's call to the Ozarks. Heed it. This year our people should stay near the home base, and get their recreation in our home state. If you do not know the Ozarks, get acquainted now. It will cost you little. In fact, most people can go to Mt. Sequoyah for a week or two and live as cheaply as at home. Try it. If you are not interested in any other feature, plan to take in the program on Temperance and Social Service August 25-31. As this is election year, this part of the program of the Assembly will be peculiarly profitable. Tell friends about it, and provoke them to come.—A. C. Millar.

Personal and Other Items

REV. D. H. COLQUETTE, "the man with the Bible," leaves this week for Yellville to meet appointments with Rev. H. W. Jett. He will visit rural churches to learn their needs for the Scriptures.

REV. EDWARD FORREST, our Cabot pastor, was brought two weeks ago to the Baptist Hospital in this city in serious condition. The latest report indicates that he is improving and hope is entertained that he will soon be able to return home.

REV. D. H. COLQUETTE left Monday for Pine Bluff to visit his brother, R. T. Colquette, who was severely injured Wednesday night when hit by a truck. Mr. Colquette is now in a hospital at that place and is suffering with a broken leg and severe bruises.

A WIDESPREAD movement is being started to aid many thousands of churches throughout the country by the distribution of beautiful, sparkling "Keep and Enforce Prohibition" metal autoplates for cars. For complete details address Sandy's, Tribune Bldg., New York City.

AN old subscriber, remitting for his renewal, writes: "You certainly have had a hard fight the last four years, with much opposition, but you have been on the right side always. You can be depended on for the truth in a sane unbiased way. The fight on prohibition will continue until the 'wets' are routed."

READERS, let us again call your attention to the ease with which you may slip a dollar bill into an envelope and address it to the office for the purpose of renewing your subscription. It is an ideal act just at this critical time. Try it. You will experience a distinct thrill as you send Uncle Sam's currency on its helpful mission.

MRS. MALONE, wife of Mr. A. L. Malone of Jonesboro, writes: "Mr. Malone has been confined to his bed since last October, but he still enjoys the Methodist, and I read it to him every week as soon as the postman brings it. He has been a subscriber so long (over 50 years) he feels that he cannot do without the paper, though he cannot now read it himself."

PRESIDING ELDER F. E. DODSON of Searcy District announces the appointment of Rev. Thos. McKnight to Scotland Circuit to fill the place made vacant by the death of Rev. J. G. Parker. He also announces that Rev. Raymond Franks has been appointed to Marshall to succeed Rev. L. K. Brown, who has been transferred to West Texas Conference and stationed at Utopia.

MRS. J. J. YOUNG, mother of Mrs. J. E. Cooper of Crossett, died at her home at Okolona on May 28. She was a woman of great talent and rendered service to a wide circle of friends. Her son, Lieut. Robert Young, was killed in France during the World War and the Young Memorial Stadium at Hendrix College was erected as a memorial in his honor. Mrs. Young is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Drury McDonald of Little Rock. A wide circle of friends extend sympathy to the members of the grief-stricken family. A fuller notice will appear later.

PLANS FOR OUR COLLEGES

LAST Friday night at the Pastors' School at Hendrix College, Bishop Dobbs gave a very illuminating sketch of Bishops Hendrix and Galloway, calling attention to the remarkable characters of these outstanding leaders in educational work, for whom our two colleges were named. Rarely is it one's privilege to hear such a vivid and inspiring biographical address.

Then the pastors and friends assembled adopted the paper found on page 3, in which they committed themselves to co-operative effort to send our young people in increasing numbers to our two fine colleges. This is a very logical outgrowth of the correlation of our schools and the execution of our new plan for unifying the educational work of our church. It should be followed by good results and our finest young people should be found at Conway and Searcy the coming year.

BOOK REVIEWS

The Universe Within Us; by R. O. P. Taylor; published by Ray Long and Richard R. Smith, Inc., New York; price $2.00.

In this discussion Dr. Taylor gives a scientific view of God and man. The style is clear and simple, the arguments logical and easily followed. It is not likely that the reader will agree with him in every instance, but a careful reading will give a loftier conception of God and of man as heir of God and joint heir with Christ. The author is well qualified to give a scientific treatment of religious beliefs as he is a thoroughly trained scientist as well as a master of modern Christian thought. In his introduction the author says: "Accept belief in God and belief in man becomes possible. Accept belief in man and the universe becomes the expressive word of a Creator. Reject either and man becomes an insignificant detail, tortured by the sense of his own futility. Hold to both, and you are roused to a sense of greatness which must drive you to key up life to an ever-increasing pitch of effectiveness. Hold to both and you become conscious of a mind in all things to which we are cognate, with whom we can hold friendship, and toward whom we can tend. Hold to both and the universe is a home; reject either and it is a furious alternation of terrific heat and appalling cold, on which we gaze with terror, while we cling desperately to a chance-cooled cinder from which we can scarce wring our sustenance, for the brief hours in which we can exist." Read the book; it will inspire you.

Why Are We Wet? by E. L. Eaton; published by the Department of Evangelical Action International Reform Federation, 206 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C.; price 50 cents.

Because Prohibition is likely to be one of the chief issues in the political campaign this year, Dr. F. Scott McBride, General Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, says of it: "The book fills a real need in that it is direct, concise, down-to-date, and interesting. An intelligent survey of the present prohibition status can be secured in a single reading. Every principal question relating to Prohibition is intelligently handled. It clearly shows why business put booze on the blink and why business men will lend their efforts to keep booze out. It should arouse the interest of millions of brand new voters in this, the most discussed present-day topic." Dr. E. C. Dinwiddie, Executive Secretary of the National Board of Strategy, says: "The circulation of the book would strengthen the dries and convert many honest, doubting wets."

Told at the Explorers' Club; edited by Frederick A. Blossom; published by Albert and Charles Boni, Inc.; New York, N. Y.; Price $3.50.

This book is full of the romance and glamor of adventure. It contains tales told at the Explorers' Club by men who have explored the far corners of the globe and who give here what to them seems their most interesting experience. In these pages the reader meets many of the world's greatest living travelers and adventurers and shares with them the thrills of remarkable experiences. The book is published for the benefit of the library maintained by the Explorers' Club for the use of explorers and scientists in search of information about the less known regions of the earth or the experiences and discoveries of earlier travelers. The thirty-three authors have contributed their services to advance this library. Aside from the fact that you will thoroughly enjoy owning and reading this book, you will have the satisfaction of helping to advance a worthy cause.

The Discovery of God; by James H. Snowden; published by the Macmillan Co., New York; price $2.00.

Although the author started out on this task well grounded in the Christian faith he has carefully studied many books on both sides of the question. He takes the word "discovery" as the keynote of his discussion. He shows how the principle of discovery is the great universal urge and traces its development to its final goal in the discovery of God. The book is masterly in its treatment, and all its arguments are clear, logical and convincing. The reader whose faith is troubled with doubts will find these doubts successfully put to flight and he who already believes will find his faith strengthened.

Pastors Are Authorized Agents

CONCERNING THE BENEVOLENCES.

The following paper was adopted at a joint meeting at Conway, June 10:

WHEREAS, the Bishops and Heads of our different departments advise us of the critical condition of our Church, making plain to us the threatened retrenchment in our foreign and home missionary work, as well as in all of our other agencies of the Church, thus emphasizing the fact that the most expensive thing in warfare is retreat, and being satisfied that many of our brethren make a mistake in leaving the Benevolences in the Budget; THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: First, that we, the Bishop and Presiding Elders of the two Arkansas Conferences, recommend to the pastors a close oversight of the handling of the Budget, and when the interests of the Benevolences are jeopardized by indifference, to withdraw it from the Budget and become responsible, themselves, for its collection.

Second, that we accept as Presiding Elders and Pastors the obligation, as we understand it from the beginning of our Church's operation, to secure the Benevolences.

Third, we reiterate what we believe to be the policy of Methodism, that we pastors are the stewards of these sacred claims.

Fourth, that the Presiding Elders pass on to the pastors these resolutions and urge immediate attention to the securing, by cash and subscriptions, of the claims as apportioned to our churches.—Hoyt M. GENERAL PLANS FOR PASTORS' UNIFIED ENROLLMENT EFFORT FOR HENDRIX AND GALLOWAY COLLEGES

College Day has been generally observed throughout the Little Rock and North Arkansas Conferences with most satisfactory results. Numerous requests for follow-up plans have come to the offices of the executive secretaries of the two Conferences. In many instances the pastors, acting through the local Church Boards of Christian Education, have appointed or elected outstanding, college-minded men and women to the Boards for the express purpose of co-operating more definitely with the enrollment secretaries of our colleges.

In compliance, therefore, with these requests for follow-up plans, and for the purpose of giving special emphasis to the college aspect of our unified program of Christian Education in Arkansas, and of assisting our pastors and local church Boards of Christian Education in their efforts to direct their young people to Galloway and Hendrix Colleges in September, in accordance with the instructions of our Annual Conferences last fall we, the Bishop and Presiding Elders of these Conferences, recommend to the pastors assembled that this Pastors' School accept the following:

1. That we rejoice in the successes of Galloway and Hendrix Colleges in the first year of their operation under the unified plan, in the spirit of unity and good will so evident among both the faculty members and students and at the almost universal public approval of this unified program, both in and outside of Arkansas.

2. That we register our wholehearted appreciation and approval of the sane moral and social life of the students on both campuses and of the high Christian character of both faculties.

3. That we commend the very fine work and splendid co-operation of Rev. Clem Baker, Rev. G. G. Davidson, and Rev. Ira A. Brumley, the executive secretaries of the two Conference Boards of Christian Education, and of the members of their staffs. They have been most effective and active in promoting among pastors and local Church Boards of Christian Education the idea of co-operating with the colleges in attracting our best young people to Hendrix and Galloway next fall.

4. That each pastor, working with his Board of Christian Education and with his young people's organization, be kindly urged to do everything possible to turn his young people toward Galloway and Hendrix this fall.

5. We recommend that Rev. John C. Glenn join Brothers Baker, Davidson and Brumley in leading our Conferences in a pastors' unified enrollment effort this summer. We suggest that they constitute a special directing committee and that we as pastors and presiding elders pledge our wholehearted co-operation in carrying out this vital plan.

6. We further recommend that the period June 20 to July 30, be set apart as the time for this special enrollment effort.

We recommend the above for the following considerations:

1. It is carrying out the spirit and letter of the General Conference legislation and of the recent action of our own Annual Conferences. We desire to make Arkansas a model

NEWPORT AUXILIARY

Yesterday was "Guest Day" in all Southern Methodist churches over the nation and was celebrated in Newport in a most appropriate and pleasant manner. This year's date of Guest Day coincided with that on which all the women's organizations of the First Church come together for a quarterly meeting and so the two events were observed simultaneously yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the church with seventy-five women present.

Mrs. B. E. Snetser gave a beautiful Scripture lesson from the 15th chapter of the Gospel of St. Mark and the gathering was led in prayer by Mrs. Ollie Howard. Reports of the three circles of the church, the Whatsoever Club and the Missionary Society were then given, each showing splendid work accomplished.

Miss Eleanor Neill, an instructor in Wesleyan College for Women at Macon, Ga., was the guest speaker of the afternoon and delighted all present with her interesting address. Miss Neill was introduced by Mrs. A. E. Holloway and spoke on "The Appeal of Missions to the Women of Our Church." Miss Neill is spending a part of the summer vacation with her sister and other relatives and friends at Batesville and Newport.

Mrs. D. L. Shoffner, Jr., and Miss Rachel Lee Bleakley gave a number of enjoyable musical selections, Miss Bleakley at the piano and Mrs. Shoffner singing a group of songs.

Circle No. 5 was the hostess circle and the members of this group served in the realization of the largest possible results of this legislation.

2. Our Conferences have completed the reorganization of our Colleges and therefore it remains for us to put on this special enrollment effort this summer.

3. It is neither wise nor economical for our Colleges to spend a large sum of money on a trained staff of solicitors. Pastors and local church workers on the ground can be far more effective than paid solicitors.

4. The Colleges are suffering seriously on account of the depression. Their income is reduced heavily by the falling off of Conference collections, of endowment income, and of student fees. While they are sorely in need of money, we are not calling upon our pastors and churches at this time for financial relief. However, pastors and local church workers can serve our Colleges right now almost as well by filling them with students next fall as they could to make an outright financial contribution.

5. In putting our young people in Galloway and Hendrix we as pastors and church workers will be completing the program of Christian Education begun in our local churches for them and which we cannot complete for such young people as go to college except through our church colleges specifically provided for that purpose.

These recommendations were adopted unanimously by the Pastors' School.

OAKLEY CHAPEL MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Emma Jackson, June 2. Bible study on John the Baptist. Stewardship was discussed by Mrs. F. M. Hubbard. During the business session two birthday offerings were received. The mystery package was drawn by Miss Della German. It was decided that summer clothing should be sent to our adopted child at the Methodist Orphanage at Little Rock.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Hays.—Reporter.

PARKIN AUXILIARY

Parkin Society has been a busy body for the past few weeks. We met May 24, our last meeting in May, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Owens, for our study and to decide about taking our parsonage out of Building & Loan, which we did. We obtained the money from two of our loyal members and paid off the small balance on the loan. Now we see our way out, as the balance was small and we have ample time with small interest to repay.

We also paid our loss to the other Circle in the contest for better attendance, by giving a picnic at our Boy Scout hut. There were 45 present.

We will have our annual picnic on June 10, at the home of Mrs. Fuller Connor.

Our Society goes to Zone meeting this Tuesday, June 7, at Hulbert, and will hold regular meeting this week at Community House. "Never stop" is our slogan.—Mrs. W. C. Drummond.

ZONE MEETING AT MAGNOLIA

The last Zone meeting for the year was held May 24, with Magnolia Auxiliary as hostess. There was a good representation from most of the Auxiliaries, nearly 100 being present.

The Magnolia ladies had planned for the meeting to be held out in the open, but the weather man interfered and it had to be in the church which was made very attractive with the beautiful ferns and flowers.

A very helpful program was given. Mrs. McKinney of El Dorado was with us and gave report of the Council meeting. Our Conference officer, Mrs. Stinson of Camden, and other visitors were present.

A picnic lunch was served. We left Magnolia with a feeling of spiritual uplift and friendliness.—Mrs. Roy Smith.

TILLAR AUXILIARY

The Tillar Missionary Society observed "Guest Month" Monday afternoon, June 6, in the beautiful auditorium of the Frank Tillar Memorial Church. Mrs. J. J. Harrell, president, presented an inspiring program.

Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. J. H. Ballard and Mrs. Harrell gave the lesson story. This was followed with a talk on the "Great Heart of Jesus" by Mrs. T. A. Prewitt, who also led in prayer. A vocal solo, "Jesus Paid the Price for Me," by Miss Geraldine Harrell, was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Harrell extended greetings to our guests and Mrs. J. A. Gabbie talked on Scarritt College. Mrs. S. V. Clayton led the prayer for the college and its great group of students scattered in the Master's vineyard. Mrs. O. A. Zieman brought us a message in poem from the Missionary Voice, and solicited new subscribers. A short business session was held. The topic for discussion, "The Citizen's Responsibility to Crime," was led by Mrs. V. A. Peacock, who brought us the story of "Baby Bandit." Mrs. J. H. Kimbro discussed "The Making of a Gangster." Prayer by Mrs. G. H. Caldwell. Mrs. Clayton presented the Bulletin News. June being the month for weddings, a wedding scene was used. The officers, Mrs. Harrell, president; Mrs. Peacock, Supt. of Mission Study; Mrs. Gabbie, Treas., and Mrs. King, Secretary, being so closely related to the church family, stood in the altar. Mrs. J. H. Kimbro, dressed as a bride with a long flowing veil and an arm bouquet of evergreens and white hydrangeas, Mrs. Clayton as maid of honor, carrying a shower bouquet in white and green came from the chapel up the aisles of the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. V. C. Harrell, and then each gave an item of news from the Bulletin. Mrs. Peacock told of the going away of our beloved Miss Case and as a tribute of love the bridal flowers carried were banked on the table, in a small way paying honor to one who served long and much and who will be so greatly missed.—Reporter.

NEW YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION IN PINE BLUFF DISTRICT

On the night of June 7, the Young People of the Methodist Churches at DeWitt, Gillett, St. Charles and Pleasant Grove met and reorganized a Young People's Union. They had an attendance of 45 and are enthusiastic over their work. This Union will be known as Rice Belt Union No. 2.

Mary Turner writes that they made excellent reports. Three organizations have charters; all have their Young People's Day pledges and Mission pledges in full, or will have them by the time the Assembly opens and each organization plans to send a delegate to the Assembly.

The following officers were elected: President, Robt Barry, Gillett; vice-president, Elizabeth Hamilton, DeWitt; Secretary, Malcolm Browning, St. Charles; treasurer, L. C. Shallhorn, DeWitt.

The Pine Bluff District has made rapid progress in its Young People's work this year, under the leadership of Miss Mary Turner, as District Director. She expects to have the best report the District has ever had, and we expect them to report 100% in everything.—Clem Baker.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE'S ASSEMBLY

Everything is in readiness for the Little Rock Conference Young People's Assembly, which opens with a banquet and delightful program at Hendrix College next Monday night, June 20. Dr. Paul Quillian is sponsoring the banquet.

Being in Conway this week, I find that the local Entertainment Committee is sparing no efforts to make our stay at Hendrix more pleasant than ever. All the faculty members will be on hand; Presiding Elders will be our guests on Tuesday; the night sessions have been carefully planned and the recreation program promises to be the best ever.

We are looking forward to a great Assembly. Let's all be on hand early Monday afternoon.—Clem Baker.

THE PASTORS' SCHOOL

The Arkansas Pastors' School in session last week and this at Hendrix College, is good in every way. The attendance has gone even beyond our expectations. The enrollment for credit has run up to eighty, which is equal to the average for the last five years, but not quite so good as last year.

The instructors are all on hand and pupils report the best we have ever had.

We were disappointed that Dr. Vance was kept from us on account of the sudden death of a prominent officer in his church. His place was ably filled by Dr. Goodloe, Dr. Minor and Dr. Reves. Our own Bishop Dobbs came Friday morning and stayed through Sunday. His addresses even surpassed the wonderful messages he has given us in former years. Our presiding elders were all present Friday and several throughout the week.

The attendance upon the school is due almost entirely to the unusual efforts of our presiding elders this year.

This week we are all looking forward to seven addresses, to be brought to us by Dr. A. W. Beaven of Rochester, New York.—Clem Baker.

PARAGOULD EASTERN DISTRICT EPWORTH LEAGUE UNION MEETING

At Piggott Sunday, June 4, the meeting was held. Ten chapters were absent, causing a very small attendance. Next meeting at Knobel.

Devotional. Subject: War and Peace.

Introduction; Leader, Jerry Morris. Prayer—Miss Ella Mowery.

Duet, "Living for Jesus"—Jerry Morris and Doilois McLeskey.

Scripture, Isaiah 35—Ralph Campbell.

Talk, "War and Peace"—Terry Cargil.

Talk, "Contrast of World War and World Peace"—Myrl Martin.

Piano Solo—Selma Robbins.

Reading, "Buddy Welcomes Grandma"—Norma Grider.

Business Meeting.

President Anderson Sage made a snappy talk on "The Outburst of Freedom," and applied it to the lives of the youth of today and the results that would happen in many cases. As the regular secretary was absent, Miss Kathleen Robinson was elected pro tempore.

Mrs. Dr. F. H. Jones of Piggott invited the young people to come to Piggott and meet with us in a Young People's Institute that is to be held here next week.

The president and the District secretary made short talks on the importance of going to Searcy to the League Assembly. Rev. E. T. Wayland, our Presiding Elder, made a short talk.

Miss Taylor of Marmaduke was elected to go to the Assembly at Searcy.

Only about 90 were present, a falling off since the last meeting. The secretaries found that the loving cup went to Rector with 410.4 points, with Marmaduke second with 310.5 points. The Hi-League banner went to Marmaduke with 446.2 points. The Marmaduke Hi-League had a perfect secretary's book and no competition.

Mathias of Piggott made a talk on the care of the loving cup and another on how we might get the ten chapters back that have quit or were absent. The next Union was voted to Knobel, first Sunday in July.

Time of next meeting—2:30 p. m., Sunday, July 3.—Alvin L. Mathias, District Young People's Reporter.

HELP IN MEETINGS

I am prepared to do evangelistic work this summer. If any need help in the song service or the pulpit, will be glad to help. Address me at Mansfield, Arkansas. I preached Sunday morning and night near Mansfield. Had an old-time revival. Ten came to the altar, seven were saved and reclaimed.—W. S. Little.

LAYMEN'S CONFERENCE AND INSTITUTE, MT. SEQUOYAH, JULY 10-13.

Official Delegates: Conference, District, Associate District, Charge and Church Lay Leaders and Stewards.

Invited Guests: Bishops, Presiding Elders, Pastors, and other Church workers.

Training and Inspiration: Training (Institute Work) and inspiration (addresses).

Attendance: The District Lay Leader is responsible for promoting attendance within the bounds of his District. It is suggested that an earnest effort be made to arrange for automobiles for the delegates from each District. Four people can easily make the trip this way at a minimum cost.

Mount Sequoyah

Our Western Methodist Assembly affords a fine opportunity for a vacation in which recreation and inspiration are combined. High altitude, comfortable quarters, delightful food, the best of Christian fellowship and a discussion of the practical phases of the work of the Church will amply repay each delegate for

TEMPERANCE AND SOCIAL SERVICE

The annual meeting of the Board of Temperance and Social Service, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be held at Lake Junaluska, N. C., beginning at 8 p. m., Thursday, July 7, 1932, continuing through July 8.

Public Conferences led by Drs. Mary Harris Armor, A. C. Millar, the President, Secretary, and other members of the Board, will be held as opportunity permits. The members of the Board who presented the attitude of the General Conference on Prohibition to Committees on Resolutions of the Democratic and Republican Conventions will make their report.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., the president of the Board, is expected to preach on Sunday, July 10, in the morning, on "The Law of Love—Our Neighbors at Home," in the evening "The Law of Love—Our Neighbors Abroad."—Eugene L. Crawford, Secretary.

REVIVAL AT POCAHONTAS.

We began our revival meeting Sunday, June 5. Rev. H. O. Bolin of Rector is doing the preaching and Mr. W. P. Forbess is leading the singing. These men helped us in a revival last October, which was said to be the best that had been held in Pocahontas for a long time. It seems that they are beginning where they quit off last year for the interest and attendance are splendid, and the meeting has been running only a few days. Bro. Bolin is preaching strong straight-forward messages. He believes in the "Old Time Religion." Bro. Forbess as a leader in an evangelistic campaign is a wonder. He already has a junior choir of nearly 100 and has the young people and adult choirs organized and doing fine work. He has a few open dates after he gets through here and we heartily recommend him to any one needing an evangelistic singer. He can be reached at the following address: "W. P. Forbess, Forbess Studio, Main Street, Little Rock."—J. M. Harrison, P. C.

DR. QUILLIAN AND DR. CRAM WANT TO MEET YOU THERE.

In the interesting series of events announced for the Assembly season at Mount Sequoyah this summer, none should prove more valuable than the Conference and Leadership School conducted jointly by the Board of Christian Education and the Board of Missions, July 14-26. Courses in Christian Education and special course in Missions will be offered, and joint platform meetings each night will feature inspirational addresses by outstanding men of the country. In the new program of Missionary and Religious Education in which the two Boards join since the last General Conference, we have the plan actually working in finest co-operation in the two Leadership Schools, one at Lake Junaluska, and this one at Mount Sequoyah.

Representing the two Boards supporting this Conference, we call upon our people to join rest and recreation with profit by turning away from the heat and toil, and on trains, buses—in automobile by whole families—come apart for two weeks for the intercourse and uplift to be found in the high altitudes of this "Western Capital of Southern Methodism" in the beautiful Ozark country.—W. F. Quillian, W. G. Cram.

EVANGELISTIC CONFERENCE AT MT. SEQUOYAH.

Keep these dates open and come. From July 3 to 10 there will be held an Evangelistic Conference at Mount Sequoyah under direction of Lovick P. Law, General Evangelist, and a cordial invitation is given to preachers and their people over the West to plan their vacation at that time and enjoy the spiritual feast as well as cool breezes at Mount Sequoyah for those eight days.

Supt. Sam Yancey has made an exceptionally attractive rate to all preachers and their families for this occasion. Write him about it and plan to be there from the first session, on Sunday, July 3, and stay through the eight days. Give your family the outing.

Evangelists and singers will be present to take part in the conference.

MEETING AT DIERKS

(This was inadvertently delayed in publication.)

On the first Sunday morning in April, Rev. J. W. Harrell began a meeting in Dierks. He was with us till Friday evening and was called home on urgent business.

Bro. Harrell preached twice on that Sunday at Dierks and once that day at Green's Chapel. I thought that he, being an honored superannuate, would not be strong enough for the task, but was agreeably surprised. His morning sermon was full of life and Spirit-filled. I thought that surely he would not do so well in the afternoon, but he towered higher and we had a great service at Green's Chapel. At night, I told my wife he would give out and not be able to make the service, but again I was surprised for he was ahead of any thing before. Bro. Harrell all through the meeting was just ahead of anything in the preceding services. I have never seen more interest in the Dierks Church in a meeting than we had, and the people are still talking about the wonderful sermons brought by Bro. Harrell. Twice he has been my presiding elder, but I have never known him to do more effectual preaching than he did in this meeting. Our people learned to love him, and to have him in our home was surely a treat and a spiritual benediction. To have him in our pulpit and in our home brought back fond recollections of other days.

In spite of the mill being shut down our church at Dierks is moving onward. Our Sunday School has the largest attendance I have ever known it to have. We have lost more after worker, but still we move onward. The Missionary Society is doing good work. Our League is composed of a fine group of young people. On Sunday evenings from 35 to 40 young people meet for the devotional service. They are regular in attendance.

At Green's Chapel things are holding in a good way. The Sunday School is doing good work. We will soon have a good Missionary Society there. Will organize just as soon as Mrs. Philips can get to us.—Alva C. Rogers, P. C.

CARTHAGE-TULIP

We are well on our way through the second year on the Carthage-Tulip Circuit, and, believe me, we are serving a good people, who appreciate their pastor and his efforts for their good. We are making some progress and this is due to the fact that we are serving an appreciative and helpful constituency. I do not believe we are nearer broke than other people, but we are nearer broke than any people that I have been privileged to serve, but in the face of all this we are a people of courage; we have our faces turned toward the rising of the sun, looking for a better day.

We are to begin our meeting at Carthage July 8, and will continue until we are through. We are expecting Brother K. L. Spore as our preacher help, and we are looking forward to a great revival. We are planning meetings at all other preaching points on the circuit and expect to have outside help if we can get the help.

At this time it is impossible to say just what we will do as to meeting our Conference obligations at the end of the Conference year; however the people of the Carthage Circuit are a faithful, church-going and church-loving folk, therefore we can assure all concerned that we will do our best as men and women are inclined to do their best.

We invite all Christians everywhere to pray for us, that we may have great revivals in our churches, and that sinners may become acquainted with Jesus Christ in the forgiveness of their sins.

I believe that if we are having hard times as many of us think it is because we have not been living right. If this is true it is in our power to make times better by living right in the sight of God and man. Let us pray, trust God, and work to this end.—W. T. Hopkins, P. C.

OBITUARY.

Greer.—Mrs. Bettie Greer, whose maiden name was Click, was born in Howard County, Arkansas, in 1876, where she grew to womanhood. She was married to Joe Greer in young womanhood and moved with him to Horatio, Arkansas, a few years later where she lived until her death March 13, 1932. She was the mother of one son and helped to rear two children of her husband and was a real mother to them. She leaves her husband, her son, Joe Greer, Jr., of Chicago, Ill., and her two step-children, Loving Greer of Fayetteville, Ark., and Mrs. R. A. Teeter, the wife of Rev. R. A. Teeter, who is pastor of the Methodist church at Ashdown, Ark. There are two brothers living in Oklahoma, W. A. Click of Durant, and J. E. Click of Kingston. Sister Greer lived her life well and "served her generation by the will of God." She held official position in the Woman's Missionary Society and in honor of her loving work, the members of the local Society acted as honorary pallbearers at her funeral. The parsonage being across the street from her home, she was the friend of all the preachers and their families, being the first to greet the incoming pastor and family and the last to say "good-bye." Physically, she suffered much, but her beautiful soul life rose above her suffering and her soul reveled in the realm of the beautiful and the loving. She has taught us how to live and has shown us how to die. The funeral service was held at our church in Horatio, March 14, the pastor being assisted by Dr. J. L. Cannon of Hope, a lifelong friend.—W. W. Christie, Pastor.

Why Should a Minister Save?

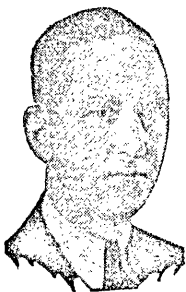

Just simply for the same reason which prompts other wise people to save, i. e., to be able to provide for themselves and family a home and some of the comforts they are entitled to in later years. It is good business, it is good sense, and necessary for everybody to save if they would stay off the charity of friends and neighbors. ly devoted wife. Brother Price was born in McNary County, Tenn., February 8, 1846, his parents being Virginians. In 1859 he moved with his parents and two brothers to Arkansas, locating at Mt. Adams and Casscoe. He served as captain in the regiment of Colonel Robert H. Crockett, grandson of David Crockett of Alamo fame. In 1871, he was united in marriage to Colonel Crockett's daughter, Miss Sallie L. Crockett, at Mt. Adams, at which place all the children were born. His wife died in 1898. In 1895 he moved to Stuttgart, where he engaged in the real estate business. In 1901 he married Miss Pearl Milam of Cartersville, Georgia. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Ernest of Stuttgart, and Herbert of Little Rock; one daughter, Mrs. Mabel Gunn of Fayetteville, Arkansas; five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted from the Price home by his pastor assisted by Dr. J. M. Stafford. The Masonic fraternity and Knights Templar had charge at the grave. To know Brother Price was to love him. His life was rich in Christian service. For many years he faithfully served his church as steward. Although a man of large affairs he was never too busy to share the responsibilities of his church. His friends and loved ones rejoice in the fact that this sweet-spirited, Southern gentleman is eternally alive with God.—Wilds S. DuBose, Pastor.

Avery.—March 26, Captain John Bates Avery was translated. He lived a long and useful life, passing at the age of 85. He was one of the most useful and outstanding citizens of Pine Bluff. He came to Arkansas in his youth and began his career as a planter and business man without the backing of relatives or friends. His success was unique and until recent years he actively managed his large plantation and directed other business interests. It was the writer's privilege to be intimately associated with this wonderful man from the very beginning of my pastorate at First Church, Pine Bluff. I consider it a privilege to bear testimony to his life. To him I owe much in the matter of influence, encouragement and patience. In his own modest and unassuming way, he related to me more than once the story of his struggles and trials during his early days. He began as a day laborer. Within a few years he became manager of a large farm. He was economical and had a wonderful business mind, consequently he began to acquire property year after year. He early became the owner of a plantation and as he prospered invested his surplus in adjacent lands. He not only became a successful and independent farmer but was active in other lines in Pine Bluff. His career includes romance, adventure, heroism and sacrifice. In all of his dealings with negroes he never had any serious trouble. An honorable man with an honorable career has gone to his eternal reward. He left a dear wife who was tender and beautiful in her ministrings during his illness. She was a marvelous helpmate during their married life. To her much honor must be given for the successes that came to him. He left John Bates Avery Johnson, a true and loyal stepson, to manage his estate. Brother Johnson, his wife, and three fine sons will continue the fine work so well begun and carried on by this wonderful man. He was honest, truthful, sympathetic, patient and just. All who knew him honored and respected him. He identified himself with the worthwhile movements of his community. His influence will linger long in the memories of all who know him. We can say of him in the words of the parable of our Lord, "Well done, good and faithful servant."—John C. Glenn, Pastor.

Harrison.—Mr. Rufus Biggs Harrison was born in Hardiman County, Tenn., May 28, 1859, and passed to his reward April 3, 1932. He was a member of the church since boyhood, having joined Trinity Church in York Chapel neighborhood. Mr. Harrison was a steward in the Methodist Church for forty years and was faithful to his church during his whole stewardship. A good man has gone from us and his Christian life calls us to the great Church beyond. We will miss him, but our loss is heaven's gain.—E. L. McKay, Pastor.

FAYETTEVILLE AND THE OZARKS

A CHALLENGE TO MAKE A COM- PARISON

Through a distance of forty miles north or south of Fayetteville, in the Ozarks is an unusual, very unusual strip of mountain scenery.

The Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, with their picturesque Chimney Rock and man-made Lake Leuer, the Alleghenies with their expanse, including the Horse Shoe Curve and Crescent Springs, the views of the Hudson River that greet your eyes as you see it either by boat or by automobile, the great Rockies with their snow-covered peaks, all these have nothing more beautiful than the Ozarks. This may seem prosaic, but as we make comparisons, we have in mind, beauty—actual beauty, natural beauty. A gigantic park not made by the hand of man. No, God's hand is in striking evidence all the way through. He made the hills, the mountains, the valleys, the spring, the rivers. Here they are in grand array.

Get a view from Mount Sequoyah. Take a ride to the top, when the sun is about to slip away and make room for the night. Look to the Southwest through a break in the mountains. Look directly South. Look in all directions. You see green, more green, and as you continue to look, you see still more green.

Below and to the West is the city of Fayetteville, nestled among the lower hills that slope away to the valley. The buildings can scarcely be observed—only the tops, because of the trees that hide them, save in a small part of the business section.

Now the shades of night are falling fast and as you continue to look, you feel as though the surface of the earth itself is in motion—like the waves of a great ocean—one wave pushing the other back farther and farther until they seem to merge and mingle with the sky itself.

Now it is night. Beautiful night. Over yonder in the West is Venus, the evening star. Though millions of miles away, yet so bright, so beautiful. Venus smiles and says to Sister Earth: Your Ozarks are beautiful.

IF I SHOULD ADVERTISE

I would stress the beauty of my Ozark Country. I would film pictures of its forests, fields, and dells, its flocks, its fruits, and flowers. I would depict the grandeur of its stone-studded hills, glistening with the promise of untold mineral wealth. I would tell of limpid mountain streams wherein lies hid the power to light a continent. And lastly, I would tell of a happy contented, home-loving people in this, my Ozark Country.
