THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION AND THE 18TH AMENDMENT

AS a member of the National Prohibition Board of Strategy, representing the organizations in the nation which oppose the repeal or modification of the 18th Amendment, I attended the meetings of the Board in Chicago last week during the sessions of the Republican Convention. It would be difficult adequately to describe the tremendous pressure brought to bear by the "wets" to compel the Convention to adopt a plank in favor of absolute repeal. The newspapers, the representatives of "wet" organizations, and the Chicago mob used every means available, fair and unfair, to compass their ends. They succeeded in getting a hearing for a minority report, fathered by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Senator Bingham. The treatment accorded the "dry" speakers by the mob in the galleries was positively disgraceful and the arguments used by the "wet" speakers were not complimentary to their intellectual ability. They got a large vote; but did not carry their measure. The plank adopted, recites favorable facts, but recommends submission of an Amendment which would permit "wet" states to have liquor under safeguards provided by Congress.

As our organizations stand for the maintenance of the 18th Amendment, this plank was not satisfactory; but it was decided to wait until the Democratic Convention should act before making any definite public statement. The situation is critical, and the Board of Strategy will meet it seriously and seek to do all that can be done to maintain Prohibition.

While I was thoroughly disgusted with the manners of the "wets," I enjoyed my association with the other members of the Board. It was my privilege on Sunday morning to preach and represent the Anti-Saloon League in the Englewood Methodist Church in the southern part of the city. I was cordially received and had a satisfactory hearing.—A. C. M.

WHERE NOT TO ECONOMIZE

By E. B. Chappell, D. D.

THE cutting down of our expenses is just now with most of us not a matter of expediency, but of dire necessity. The vast decrease in returns from investments, private business and personal service, and the general financial uncertainty that prevails throughout the world, make it impossible for us to maintain the scale of spending that was common three years ago. In most cases we must, whether we like it or not, cut out many of the luxuries and even conveniences which we allowed ourselves before the present depression came upon us, and give very careful consideration as to the best use of our remaining resources. It is only a fortunate minority who can afford to use their incomes in the free and easy way that was common prior to November, 1929.

In making out our family and church budgets at such a time we should seek conscientiously to determine at what points we may cut our expenditures with least permanent injury to those for whom we are responsible and to the enterprises which we seek to promote. And as we do so, it will become increasingly apparent that the direction in which we can best afford to economize is in the use of material things. For instance, no lasting harm can come to either old or young from the wearing of last year's clothing or from being compelled to forego the use of varieties of food and drink that are not necessary to the preservation of physical health. Indeed, such practice of self denial may, in the long run, prove a blessing. But a child or youth who is denied proper educational advantages suffers a loss which can never be made good. Intelligent citizens who have at heart the welfare of society must have observed with mingled wonder and indignation the devices to which our state, county, and municipal authorities have not infrequently resorted during recent months in order to balance depleted budgets. Their own salaries, as a rule, are maintained at their former level and are promptly collected, and they retain the same group of hangers-on about their offices. But in many places the number of public school teachers has been drastically reduced, and, at the same time, the salaries of those retained have been cut. And even the salaries that are promised are, in many cases, paid only in part. It would be difficult to imagine a policy more utterly stupid or lacking in consideration for the future welfare of society.

The situation becomes still more serious, however, if, in addition to this decline of interest in general education, we permit a slackening in our efforts in behalf of the moral and spiritual development of our children. The trouble in which we find ourselves today is fundamentally ethical. With the forces and resources that are at our command we could easily produce enough to meet the needs of our entire population, if only we had the desire and the will to use these forces and resources for the common good. Our only hope, therefore, for permanent recovery is in a united and determined purpose to raise up a generation of men and women who shall be so dominated by the spirit and ideals of Jesus that they will "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness," which means, of course, putting the public weal above private gain. To neglect the Christian training of our children at a time like this is not only to deprive them of the spiritual inheritance which justly belongs to them, but also to perpetuate and increase the ills from which we are now suffering. In fact, if Christian parents and the Christian Church fail in their great task of religious education, the present crisis may end in a catastrophe more terrible and prolonged than any which the world has known since the downfall of the Roman Empire.

Our Church School Literature.

Fortunately, there is no reason why there should be any serious decline in the effectiveness of our work in the local church. For, thanks to the effective training program that we have carried on during the last fifteen years, there is in almost every congregation at least a small group of earnest men and women who, with the fine body of literature at their command, are capable of leading in a reasonably effective local program of Christian education.

The literature of the Church School is the most important among the tools required for successful work. Our current denominational literature is the outcome of the study and experience of thousands of consecrated men and women who are devoting their lives to the task of trying to understand human nature and of discovering the most effective ways of promoting its all-round development. Through it, therefore, the results of this wide study and experimentation are put at the command of every school that is willing to avail itself of this rich body of material. And this material has been prepared with a view to meeting the needs of all age-groups in schools of every type.

Three general types of Lesson Courses are offered. The Closely Graded Courses furnish Lesson Outlines graded by years for all classes up to and including the Senior Department. The Group Graded Courses furnish outlines graded by three-year cycles for the same period, except that the Outline for Beginners is the same for schools of all types, except in small schools using the Senior Quarterly. The Improved Uniform Outlines are used only in the Adult Division. For this Division, however, various elective courses are also offered.

Interpretations of the Closely Graded Outlines for pupils are furnished through a series of quarterlies. In the Beginner, Primary, and Junior Departments these interpretations are given in story form and in the first two of these the lessons are illustrated with artistic picture sets.

The Group Courses are interpreted for primary pupils in Our Little People, for juniors in Junior Lessons, for intermediates in the Intermediate Quarterly, and for seniors and young people in the Epworth Highroad. The last of these is a beautifully illustrated monthly magazine and furnishes, in addition to the lesson treatment, stories, articles of general interest, and material for Epworth League meetings.

For teachers enrichment materials and suggestions for class conduct and teaching are furnished through the Teachers' Textbooks for the Closely Graded Courses and for all types of lessons through the Church School Magazine and the Elementary Teacher. The last two are illustrated monthlies and carry, in addition to lesson helps, a wide variety of articles dealing with general educational principles and concrete problems of Church School Management.

Ample provision is also made for the home through the Home Quarterly, Childhood Guidance in Christian Living, and the Parent's Guide for each of the courses in the Closely Graded Lessons for the Primary and Junior Departments. And, besides the lesson material for pupils mentioned above, wholesome and stimulating matter is provided for primary and junior pupils in Boys and Girls, for intermediate girls in the Torchbearer, and for intermediate boys in the Haversack. For a more detailed description of our Church School publications readers are referred to a pamphlet issued by our General Board of Christian Education under the title "Church School Literature: Its Proper Use and How to Order It." For a thorough discussion of our lesson materials and how to use them "Lesson Materials in the Church School," by Dr. C. A. Bowen, is most heartily recommended.

I do not wish to be understood as maintaining that our Church School literature is perfect. In fact, because it is alive, it is in constant process of development. But, as it stands today, it represents a reasonable approach to the best that is possible both in quality and adaptation to those for whose use it is designed that can be produced under existing conditions. With such a supply of helps at their command, any moderately intelligent group of officers and teachers can maintain a successful Church School provided they are sufficiently impressed with the importance of their task to be willing to make diligent use of their resources and opportunities.

And, fortunately, the price of our literature is so moderate as to bring it within the reach of any congregation that is really in earnest about the religious training of its constituency. An average school of sixty-five members, including five teachers and ten home members, may procure a minimum supply of literature for $11.30 per quarter, which is a little less than one and a third cents a week for each member. Or it may pro-

REV. S. K. BURNETT, our pastor at Pullman Heights, Hot Springs, expects to begin a meeting next Sunday with Rev. Jas. V. Reid, evangelist, of Fort Worth, Texas, assisting.

ANNOUNCEMENT comes of the marriage of Rev. Paul V. Galloway, our pastor at Joiner, and Miss Elizabeth Louise Boney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boney of Stamps, on June 14.

REV. J. H. CUMMINS is this week in the midst of a protracted meeting at Grand Avenue Church, Hot Springs, with Rev. F. A. Buddin, our pastor at First Church, Texarkana, doing the preaching.

REV. E. D. HANNA, who at last session of Little Rock Conference took the superannuate relation and now makes his home in the suburbs of Hot Springs, feels that he has sufficiently recovered to assist in protracted meetings this summer, and would be pleased to accept invitations from his brethren.

DR. E. R. STEEL, our beloved superannuate of Little Rock Conference, who since the failure of his health, has been making his home in this city, has moved to Camden to be near his son who is connected with a Camden bank. Mrs. Steel reports that Dr. Steel stood the trip well and that they are comfortably located at 112 Chestnut St.

THE July Holland's, "The Magazine of the South," has a very interesting article about Charles Simonton McCain, the young Little Rock banker, who is now chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank of New York, the $2,800,000,000 institution which is said to exceed in size and in every other way any other banking house in the world. Our readers who desire to have a first-class magazine, would do well to take Holland's. It is published by the Farm & Ranch Publishing Co., Dallas, Texas, and the price is 10 cents a copy, or $1.00 for two years. The August number will have an article on "Arkansas: Land of Diamonds and Pearls."

NINETY-EIGHT years ago, near Jackson, Tenn., a negro slave was born. Working up through all kinds of difficulties, Rev. Isaac Lane has for fifty-nine years been a bishop of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, and is now the oldest living Methodist bishop. Some fifty years ago he founded a school at Jackson, which was later named Lane College. It has educated thousands of negro youth and has been a powerful factor in the uplift of his race. It now has sixteen acres of ground on which are seven modern buildings, valued at nearly one-half million dollars. Here students get board and room for $14 a month. The college has been aided by both the General Education Board of New York and the Board of Education of our own Church. It now needs $21,000 to pay off a debt. Its president is Dr. J. F. Lane, son of the founder. Any contributions sent to him will be highly appreciated. Those who can should help this worthy institution.

BOOK REVIEWS

Sermons From the Psalms; by Clovis G. Chappell; published by Cokesbury Press, Nashville, Tenn.; price $1.75.

Dr. Chappell's sermons need no introduction to the reading public. This new book will win for him many new friends. These sermons are practical and apply the lessons of the Psalms to the present day Christian's problems. The author's style is vigorous and effective. The vivid pictures which he presents are most impressive. This book contains seventeen sermons, each complete in itself, satisfying, helpful and inspiring. You who are looking for a good readable book of sermons will welcome this collection by Dr. Chappell.

The Sermon on the Mount; by Clovis G. Chappell, D. D.; published by Cokesbury Press, Nashville, Tenn.; price 75c.

This is one of the Cokesbury Reprint Library and is a fine example of the good books they are offering the reading public at a nominal price. Dr. Chappell has a happy way of presenting his message. He catches the force, beauty and truth of the spiritual message and in simple, sparkling language conveys it to his hearers and readers.

The Burro's Moneybag; by Margaret Loring Thomas; published by the Abingdon Press, New York; price $1.00.

This is a quaint but very life-like and charming little story of a dear little Mexican boy who wanted a burro and steadfastly bent all of his energy toward realizing his ambition. The atmosphere of Old Mexico pervades the story and a splendid picture of the life of that country is left with the reader. The style is simple and entertaining and will appeal alike to readers of all ages. The child who reads it will feel that little Pedro is indeed a little neighbor whom he would like to meet and claim as a friend and merry companion.

The Fact of a Future Life; by Cortland Myers, D. D., LL. D.; published by Ray Long and Richard R. Smith, Inc., New York.

This book is both comforting and inspiring. It is artistically arranged. The style is simple, clear, logical and convincing. He first establishes the fact of man, then the fact of God, and follows that with the fact of Christ. Each chapter is preceded by an excellent collection of quotations from well selected poems. The reader will prize and enjoy the volume and will welcome it as a most appropriate gift book.

HOW TO END DEPRESSION

DEAR READERS, you are all anxious to end the depression. That is easy if each of you will follow the directions given here. Take a sheet of paper and write on it your name and address, and order your subscription set forward one year. Then take a one-dollar bill (be careful that it is not a counterfeit); fold it nicely; insert it with the letter in an envelope addressed to the Arkansas Methodist, Little Rock. That is your part of the process. When these dollar bills have been received, we shall turn them over to the man who prints our paper; he will pay his printers and the jobber who supplies him with paper. Each of these in turn will pay some of their bills. After awhile some one who owes you will get one of these dollars and will pay you. This circular motion of passing the dollar bills is much better than passing the buck, and will result in starting and maintaining a stream of bills that will relieve much financial distress. If enough people who have dollar bills will just do this simple little trick, the depression, or repression, or compression, or whatever you choose to call it will end. In other words, let everyone who has a dollar and owes a dollar pay it out, and it will keep going until all debts are paid, and business will pick up and the wheels of commerce will begin to move with regularity. Thaw out the frozen dollars, and put them to work. It is the unemployed dollar that is responsible for unemployed men.

SO many pastors have been at Summer School that not much has been done by them on circulation during the past week. In North Arkansas Conference Batesville District has a slight lead; but we are sure Helena District will not long submit to that. Paragould District has made a decided gain, and will soon make further gains. In Little Rock Conference the only material gain has been made by Arkadelphia District, which is now ahead of Pine Bluff, and second only to Camden. What will next report show?

cure a complete supply, including story papers, Beginner Picture Sets, folder covers for primary and beginner leaflets, and the Elementary Teacher and Childhood Guidance in Christian Living for teachers in the Children's Division for less than twenty-three cents a member per quarter. If a Nursery Department is maintained, a small amount will need to be added to this estimate.

A school that is large enough to justify the use of the Closely Graded Courses may be furnished with a complete supply of all the types of literature recommended for the various grades and departments at an average cost of about forty cents a quarter per member. However, by consulting the pamphlet on "Church School Literature" referred to above, it will be seen that this amount may, in cases of absolute necessity be considerably reduced.

It is evident from the above showing that, even at a time of financial crisis like that through which we are passing, it will require no serious sacrifice for any average congregation to supply its Church School with sufficient literature to enable it to carry on its work successfully. Surely it is not too much to expect that Christian parents will be willing to practice whatever self-denial may be required in order that they may contribute the minimum sum of two cents for each child per week for the religious education of their boys and girls. And surely there is no congregation of Christian men and women that will fail to do everything possible to avert the danger that threatens our civilization by contributing to the utmost of their ability toward the raising up of a generation to such character and ability as will fit them for successfully grappling with the grave problems that now perplex and bewilder us.

TUCKERMAN MISSIONARY SO- CIETY SPONSORS TEA

A very formal pink tea was given May 10 at the beautiful home of Mrs. Alice Graham, both Circles of the Missionary Society sponsoring. Over one hundred guests called during the afternoon.

The following program was rendered by our college girls, who are home for vacation. The guest speaker was Mrs. B. L. Wilford. Misses Carmen May Joy and Noralee Caudette gave piano numbers. Miss Ruth Lindley a vocal solo, and Miss Bertha May Churchman a violin number, with Mrs. H. J. Penix accompanying at the piano. Miss Elizabeth Penix gave a reading. Also Bryan Jean Hall sang. Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Hall sang a cute number. Miss Lou Alice Harrison read for us. The object of the tea was for new members. We are trying to lower our age average of the Missionary Society. The refreshments were served buffet, and on each guest's plate who was not a member was given an invitation, urging her to enter the great work. The younger Circle, known as Circle No. 2, won six new members and the promise of others later. We believe new life will come from this social affair.—Publicity Supt.

FIRST CHURCH AUXILIARY, PARAGOULD

We have recently had our second quarterly Birthday Party. These are beautifully arranged affairs, held at the church, honoring those whose birthdays have come within that quarter.

A Young Matrons' Auxiliary with seventeen members has been organized under the direction of Mrs. W. C. Davidson and Mrs. E. T. Wayland. All departments are well organized and they are expecting soon to have a greatly increased enrollment.

We are studying "The Open Gate to Prayer" in the Circles. It is taught by a special study leader elected in each Circle. We have already quite a number of Council credits in our Auxiliary, received through the Church School. We will have more through our studies later in the year.—Mrs. A. C. Cloyes, Pub. Supt.

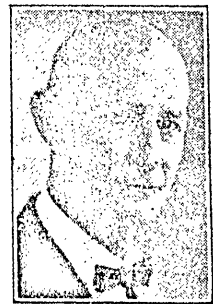

MEETING OF ZONE FIVE AT CHERRY HILL

At the church in Cherry Hill we found a large crowd of folks waiting to give us welcome. The church was beautifully decorated with June flowers, these being furnished by a good Baptist friend, and co-worker with Methodist committee. With Mrs. Aubry Hilton at the instrument, the program was opened by singing majestic hymns. Inspirational devotion, Mrs. Charles Keck. Invocation, Rev. F. C. Cannon, Hatfield. Response was given by Rev. B. F. Fitzhugh to the gracious and hearty welcome from Rev. A. J. Bearden, pastor, Cherry Hill Circuit. Brother Bearden presented a lovely key (his own manufacture, length 10½ inches; wider part 2½ inches; light texture of wood, covered with silver tinsel), saying, "This key unlocks the hearts and homes of Cherry Hill." Then picking up a beautiful Bible, "This is the key to the hearts of men, through love, and service, saving the souls of men, and bringing them into the Kingdom of God." The pageant by members of the Hatfield Circuit was beautifully presented, true, and spiritual. One scene of pageant was given by the young people of Wickes, young ladies of Mrs. Keck's Sunday School class. An important feature of the day was an address by Mrs. W. L. Phillips, District secretary. Mrs. Phillips stressed the necessity of consecration and prayer, with finances as secondary place.

The reports from the various churches showed progress in every phase of the work. A long table placed under the beautiful oak trees at the parsonage was completely served with tempting viands furnished by the Methodists and Baptists of the community.

With a special hymn for Mrs. Marion Philpot, a special prayer for

Christian Education

THE ARKANSAS PASTORS' SCHOOL

We deeply appreciate the work of the Board of Managers of our Pastor's School, made up of members from both Conferences, in making possible the fine school we have had this year. In no sense have the high standards attained in past years been lowered.

We feel that no better group of courses have been offered in any year and the faculty has been unexcelled. We wish to thank each member of the faculty for the rich contribution he has made for our profit.

Especially do we wish to thank Drs. Goodloe and Minor of Southern Methodist University and Dr. Reeves of our own First Church at Little Rock for so willingly and ably serving us at the platform hours left vacant by the regrettable but unavoidable absence of one of the speakers that had been provided.

The presence and messages of Bishop Dobbs, our own chief pastor, we highly appreciated and express the hope that he can be with us for even a longer time next year.

Of Dr. Beaven it is in our hearts to say that of the long list of illustrious who have inspired us with their great messages in the past at our Pastor's Schools, none have ever gripped us more strongly, nor made see more clearly, nor feel more keenly the problems and the responsibilities that the present holds for us as the ministers of Christ than he. We assure him that we shall hold him in grateful remembrance.

We also wish to thank Dr. Reynolds and the entire management of the college for the many kindnesses shown us. Each year but adds to this debt of obligation which we can never hope to pay.

We wish also to thank the presiding elders for the efforts put forth, each in his own district, in behalf of the school, for it was through their active interest in many instances that pastors were able to come.

Further we wish to express our esteem and gratitude to Rev. Clem Baker, our loyal and efficient Dean. No man has worked harder or made a greater contribution to the school than has Brother Baker.

Last, but not least, do we thank Mrs. Hulen for the splendid and appetizing meals furnished us at Tabor Hall, and the students who so efficiently waited on tables; also Miss Caroline Wheeler, matron of Martin Hall, for her many thoughtful kindnesses which have added so much to the comfort of many of us.

We go back to our homes, we trust richer in head and in heart than when we came. Not the least of the sources of our profiting has been the splendid fellowship one with another and with Christ that we have enjoyed. The morning watch prayer meeting, sponsored especially by Bro. Sam Goddard, has been most helpful in this regard. We pledge our continued support to our Pastors' School and hope to see the day when all our Arkansas pastors will find it possible to avail themselves of its benefits.—R. H. Cannon, Chairman of Committee, F. E. Dodson, Fred Roebuck, Sam Wiggins.

JUDSONIA-BRADFORD VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Daily Vacation Bible Schools, supervised by Miss Mae Wess Bell, rural worker of the Searcy District, are being held on the Judsonia-Bradford charge, with an average enrollment of 90. The school, held in Judsonia June 6-12, enrolled 90, with an average attendance of 84. The total number at Bradford School, which opened June 13 and will continue until June 25, is reported at 91.

Of the 26 charges in the Searcy District, 21 will sponsor Vacation Bible Schools this summer.—N. Dauley.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF PINE BLUFF DISTRICT

Our District Secretary, Miss Mary Turner is a wonderfully satisfactory leader. At the present time, we have five Unions, to-wit: Pine Bluff Union, Rice Belt Union No. 1, composed of Humphrey-Sunshine, Stuttgart and Roe Circuit; Rice Belt Union No. 2, composed of Gillette-Camp Shed, DeWitt and St. Charles Circuit; Grant County Union and Lincoln Co. Union.

The most satisfactory thing about it is that they are all doing well. At the present time two of these Unions have already sent in 100 per cent on Young People's Day quotas, to-wit: the Grant County Union and the Lincoln County Union, they being our newest unions. Another satisfactory thing is that both will be 100 per cent on Mission pledges, and, I suspect, in all probability, will be the first in our Conference to make this record.

The writer is quite sure that our people who love young life and feel interested in them will be as proud as he is of these accomplishments.

Her Friends Try to Help Her . . . but she won't Listen . . . she Doesn't Care

"What am I going to do . . . I'm so nervous I could simply scream." How often have you felt this way yourself?

These Hysterical Women!

CRYING . . . sobbing . . . laughing! Tears in her eyes one minute . . . smiling the next! What a state to be in! She has no control of herself . . . the slightest thing drives her to distraction.

Tired out all the time . . . overwrought . . . nerves strung to the breaking point, she tries to do her work.

She looks old, haggard. She is irritable, unreasonable. Her friends try to help her . . . she won't even listen. She has reached the point where she doesn't even care.

How pitiful it is to see her suffering . . . when it is so unnecessary!

Constant headache, backache, bearing down pains and dizzy spells are robbing this woman of youth, beauty and health.

If she would only give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a chance to help her . . . how well and happy she could be.

This simple remedy has benefited 98 out of every 100 women who have reported using it.

Don't think that your troubles are any different. Don't think that this medicine won't help you. It can! Give it a chance and watch those headaches and backaches yield to its tonic action.

The new tablets are so easy to take. They slip into a handbag as neatly as a compact. And what relief they give during those "trying times"!

But whether you prefer the Compound in tablet form or in liquid form, at least, try it! Let it prove that it can do for you what it has done for others. See for yourself what blessed help it can really be.

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Tablet Form

because—

1. It gives relief by soothing nerves — not deadening them. Contains no opiates. Won't upset stomach.

2. Being liquid, it acts quicker than pills or powders. Sold at drug stores in single dose, or 10c, 30c, 60c sizes.

I feel that the others will have 100 per cent in a few days.—James Thomas, Presiding Elder.

OPEN DATE

I will have time for one or two more dates this year. Last half of August is yet open. If in need of evangelistic help, write me either at Jonesboro, Ark., or at Muskogee, Oklahoma, care of Rev. W. D. Thompson, P. E., up to July 15. After that date, I will be back in Arkansas. Can come to you with or without singer.—Norris Greer, Conference Evangelist.

GOOD PREACHING

One of the most comprehensive and impressive appeals for observance of the law of both God and man the local congregation ever listened to, was last Sunday night's sermon by Rev. M. W. Miller, at the South Methodist Church, the subject being, "The Danger of Hedge Breaking," or "Look Out for the Snakes."—The Gillett Record.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF INSTITUTIONAL MISSIONS

Visiting the city and county jails, the city and county hospitals in Little Rock, Sunday, June 12, distributing Church School quarterlies and other religious literature; holding 11 gospel services to as many groups of people, was the program for one day of Rev. D. H. Colquette, Superintendent of Institutional Missions in Arkansas. Bro. Colquette was not accompanied by a company of assistants; he led the songs, offered the prayers, read or quoted the Scripture and delivered the messages, mostly in subdued voice or undertone, since the services were held in hospital wards.

Activities in the same work for the month of May include work in 17 towns, 7 Conferences attended, 32 services held and 2,580 miles traveled.

The field is large and the mission important. "Gospel opportunities and church privileges" is the slogan of the mission.

CAMDEN DISTRICT CONFERENCE

The Camden District Conference convened at First Church, El Dorado, April 29, with the very efficient presiding elder, Rev. J. L. Dedman, in the chair.

Rev. T. M. Armstrong preached the opening sermon, a very inspiring address, touching the hearts of all.

Rev. J. T. Rodgers preached at eleven o'clock the second day. He delivered an impassioned appeal for the Church to minister to the whole man, not merely to the spiritual, but to the material needs as well.

Of the twenty pastors nineteen answered present during the session. The absent pastor was engaged in a funeral service.

More than seventy laymen and local preachers were also present.

Among the many visitors were the following: Rev. Clem Baker, Conference Secretary of Religious Education; Rev. S. T. Baugh, Extension Secretary; Rev. Harold Sadler, Conference Director of Young People's Work, and Mr. J. D. Lee, Sec. Budget Commission of Lay Activities; and the Rev. Jesse M. Hamilton, presiding elder of the Monticello District.

Two of our honored superannuates Rev. J. D. Dunn and Rev. B. F. Scott, were present and inspired our hearts with their warm spirits and fellowship.

Every cause of the church was championed by able speakers.

Mrs. E. D. Galloway for the District and Bro. Sadler for the Conference, spoke on the work of the Young People of the Church.

Revs. Baker and Baugh gave inspiring addresses on the work of Christian Education in the local church. Brother Baugh presented charts showing the results of the survey of the District conducted by him earlier in the year and urged that information thus gathered might be used in enlarging our program for the country church.

Rev. H. H. Griffin represented the interests of our School in a very forceful and helpful address.

Mr. Lee and a number of the laymen discussed the importance of the work for the laymen of the church.

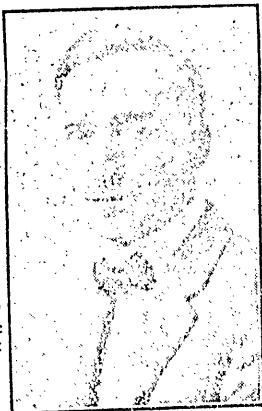

Mrs. Ray Hutcheson, Dist. Sec. W. M. S., and Mrs. McKinney of First Church El Dorado, presented the work of the Women's Missionary Society.

The presiding elder gave many timely exhortations on the varied interests of the church as a whole, and of the District in particular.

The ladies of First Church gave a beautiful luncheon, and won all hearts with their gracious hospitality, and we enjoyed immensely the wit and humor of Rev. J. M. Hamilton, who was the speaker at the noon hour.

The Conference was great in every way, and as we expressed our thanks to the Pastor, Rev. J. L. Hoover, and his great people we will always carry in our hearts a very warm place for them.—A. E. Jacobs, Sec.

REVIVAL AT LESLIE

I report a great revival at Leslie. Many came weeping to the altar and went away shouting the praises of the Lord.

In the seventeen days of meeting eighty-seven souls were reclaimed or converted, more men than women.

The last week people came for miles around. All over the church people would fall down to pray. Many times we were there at midnight.

We give praise unto the Lord for His wonderful saving power.

I call attention to open dates in July. Pastors now is the time to win many souls to Christ. Wire me at Springdale for date. I go to Danville for community meeting in August.—H. C. Hankins.

STRANGER'S HOME

We are now serving our fifth year on the Stranger's Home Circuit, and still have a crowd to preach to. We believe we have as good church-going people as there are in the Batesville District. June 12, at 11 o'clock, we had present 205, and on that night about 240. While our people are poor in finances and can't help much along that line, they are rich in faith and believe in going to church, and their presence is worth lots to me.

We have been with them through these hard years and they have been nice to us and we love them. We have a fine bunch of young folks and we are proud of them and I know that their fathers and mothers are proud of them. I know if they have any money that they will divide it with the Lord.

As our Missionary Society is 100 per cent in attendance, we must be 100 per cent in our Benevolences and in every phase of the work.

We are looking forward to a great revival. Our meeting starts at Stranger's Home the second Sunday in July. Brother Villines will conduct it. He is a good man and also a fine preacher. We want you to come and bring some one with you. We ask an interest in the prayers of all who pray.—Luther Love, P. C.

FINE WORK AT HAWLEY MEMORIAL CHURCH, PINE BLUFF

For the past three months the finances of Hawley Memorial, at Pine Bluff, have been raised through the Sunday School. For this reason a joint meeting of the general Church School Council and the Board of Stewards is held monthly in addition to the monthly meeting of the Division Councils. This plan has created a great deal of interest in the work of the church. A wonderful spirit of co-operation is developing. As a specific example of this wonderful spirit, at the last Board meeting the question of raising some money, not included in the budget, to meet a monthly payment on a note was brought up. A member of the Junior Department arose and stated that her department took great pleasure in caring for the payment on the note this month. She then presented the money to the chairman of the Board. The Department superintendent, Mrs. L. M. Jones, and her co-workers in the Department led the Juniors in this undertaking.

This same wonderful spirit is characteristic of all departments of our Church School at Hawley.—Arthur Terry, P. C.

NORTH ARKANSAS TREASURER'S NOTES

Following amounts have come in since our last report, and show that the brethren have been working hard. Several have sent in more than one payment. May was decidedly the best month of the year so far. The high point was Rev. Dana Dawson, First Church, Fort Smith, with $2,000.00. Others as great in effort and comparative amounts give us encouragement.

Another detailed report by Charges and Districts will be published about the second week in July.

FAYETTEVILLE AND THE OZARKS

A CHALLENGE TO MAKE A COM- PARISON

Through a distance of forty miles north or south of Fayetteville, in the Ozarks is an unusual, very unusual strip of mountain scenery.

The Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, with their picturesque Chimney Rock and man-made Lake Leuer, the Alleghenies with their expanse, including the Horse Shoe Curve and Crescent Springs, the views of the Hudson River that greet your eyes as you see it either by boat or by automobile, the great Rockies with their snow-covered peaks, all these have nothing more beautiful than the Ozarks. This may seem prosaic, but as we make comparisons, we have in mind, beauty—actual beauty, natural beauty. A gigantic park not made by the hand of man. No, God's hand is in striking evidence all the way through. He made the hills, the mountains, the valleys, the spring, the rivers. Here they are in grand array.

Get a view from Mount Sequoyah. Take a ride to the top, when the sun is about to slip away and make room for the night. Look to the Southwest through a break in the mountains. Look directly South. Look in all directions. You see green, more green, and as you continue to look, you see still more green.

Below and to the West is the city of Fayetteville, nestled among the lower hills that slope away to the valley. The buildings can scarcely be observed—only the tops, because of the trees that hide them, save in a small part of the business section.

Now the shades of night are falling fast and as you continue to look, you feel as though the surface of the earth itself is in motion—like the waves of a great ocean—one wave pushing the other back farther and farther until they seem to merge and mingle with the sky itself.

Now it is night. Beautiful night. Over yonder in the West is Venus, the evening star. Though millions of miles away, yet so bright, so beautiful. Venus smiles and says to Sister Earth: Your Ozarks are beautiful.

"The School You'll Like"

IF I SHOULD ADVERTISE

I would stress the beauty of my Ozark Country. I would film pictures of its forests, fields, and dells, its flocks, its fruits, and flowers. I would depict the grandeur of its stone-studded hills, glistening with the promise of untold mineral wealth. I would tell of limpid mountain streams wherein lies hid the power to light a continent. And lastly, I would tell of a happy contented, home-loving people in this, my Ozark Country.
