CALVIN COOLIDGE

THE death of former President Calvin Coolidge last week was a shock. The nation was not prepared for it. It is well that he did not permit himself to be elected president for a third term. Under the strain he probably would have died suddenly in the midst of his term. According to the usual standards of greatness he was not a great man; and yet, judged by his remarkable record, he was among our really great men. He was a politician in the best use of the term. Politics was his career, and he was perhaps the most successful politician in our history, because, without improper methods, he passed directly from lower to higher office in rapid succession, and was never defeated in his aspirations. Not a great statesman, he nevertheless made fewer mistakes than any man who held high office. Without a winning personality, he was popular because of his shrewdness, political wisdom, and honesty. In the midst of a generation of corrupt associates, he maintained his integrity and the confidence of the people. While he was president, people lay down to sleep feeling that the country was safe under his guidance. Diplomatic and yet direct, he made few enemies, and left his high office with a feeling on the part of the mass of our people that it would be well for him to continue. Not picturesque nor dramatic, he, nevertheless, by his unique manner, attracted attention and made for himself a distinct place in public life, because he cannot be successfully compared with any other president. No stain attaches to his character. He was fundamentally an honest man, a good man, who regarded public office as a public trust. May we reverently say that he was a providential man. Would that we had more of his kind in public life!

BABSON IS RIGHT

IN a recent comment on the financial troubles of the government, Mr. Babson, the able statistician, after giving the figures on our enormous expense, says: "The real trouble lies in three things: (1) Enormous interest and sinking fund charges on federal debt; (2) the cost of past wars; and (3) the preparation for future wars. Also remember that federal debt is almost wholly the result of wars. That is where your heavy income and profits taxes, your estate taxes, your gasoline taxes and all of the big taxes are going. That is where some people now propose to throw in a general sales tax."

Mr. Babson shows that only about one-fourth of our national revenue is used to support the government, and three-fourths, or some $3,000,000,000, are due to expenses of war, past or present. He thus concludes: "Reduction in world budgets is awaiting a substitution of the Christ spirit of tolerance, good-will, and righteousness in place of the present-day spirit of hate, nationalism and selfishness. It is not economy nor technocracy that the world needs today, but, rather, simple Christianity."

"ALCOHOL AND MAN"

THE caption is the title of a book just issued from the press of The Macmillan Co., New York, edited by Haven Emerson, M. D., assisted by a number of eminent specialists, namely, Drs. Henry A. Christian and Read Hunt of Harvard University, and Dr. Arthur Hunter, representing the N. Y. Life Insurance Co., Dr. Chas. C. Lieb of Columbia University, Dr. Walter Miles of Yale University, and Dr. Ernst G. Stillman of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical research. It was agreed that facts and opinions supported by facts should be given regardless of their bearing upon current controversies. The authors have been scrupulously careful to avoid taking sides in the controversies now raging in connection with the 18th Amendment and enforcing acts. The work is timely. Let some of the opinions speak for themselves.

Dr. H. T. Hyman, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, says of drinking in moderate quantities: "The biological urges of the individual are released from the restraints imposed upon them by the forces of civil and social laws and customs, and the reflex responsibility of the animal replaces the self-controls and trials of the good citizen."

Dr. D. M. Whitaker, of Stanford University, says: "Alcohol itself if supplied in sufficient quantity is a poison. It interferes with the normal functions of the organism so greatly as to endanger life . . . Alcohol is a narcotic or anesthetic."

Dr. Emil Bogen, of the Olive View Sanatorium, says: "Alcohol, in the form of some type of beverage, has been known from the earliest times, each country having some national drink containing it. No other poison causes so many deaths or leads to or intensifies so many diseases, both physical and mental, as does alcohol in the various forms in which it is taken . . . That some individuals are able to drink many times the amount that others can, without showing the same symptoms, is a matter of common observation. Even in the same individual the effects of alcohol may vary at different times. . . . The very highest centers of the brain are first affected, manifested in a blunting of the finer grades of judgment, reflection, observation and attention, together with slight changes in mood and disposition, usually resulting in a feeling of euphoria and good fellowship, along with an increased confidence in one's mental and physical powers. There is, however, an actual decrease in reflex irritability and lessened sensory sensitivity, with slowing in the reaction time, slower muscular movements, less adequate and accurate muscular control and less agile mental operations. The whole qualitative picture is one of decreased human efficiency as a quickly following result from the ingestion of alcohol. . . . In recent times not only drunkenness but the act of drinking alcoholic beverages has been considered an asocial practice and under some conditions illegal. . . . A person may be under the influence of alcohol to an extent that seriously affects his powers and behavior, and make him totally unfit to drive an automobile, and yet fail to present the complete syndrome of drunkenness."

It is interesting to read what this same doctor has to say about the so-called "rot-gut" which is vigorously condemned by the anti-prohibitionists. Thus: "As there is so much factitious, adulterated, illicit, denatured and so-called moonshine liquor available at the present time, it might be expected that there would be an increase in the cases of alcoholic poisoning from such sources. Chemical analysis of the specimens which have been responsible for many of the deaths has failed to show, however, the presence of any definite toxic substance other than the alcohol itself, that might be held accountable for the increase of deaths noted. . . . On the whole the illicit alcoholic beverages today seem to be less harmful than the legally sold liquors of the pre-prohibition period because the ethyl alcohol they contain, which constitutes their main, if not their only harmful, ingredient, is so often diluted with water for the sake of greater profit of their seller."

It is stated by the editor that "It must be accepted that in recent years the use of alcohol by physicians in the care of their patients has greatly decreased, and this is particularly true in our hospitals of highest grade; in textbooks of medicine it now receives very infrequent mention under the heading, treatment, in the various chapters."

Dr. Walter R. Miles of Yale University says: "The omnipresent motor car is unfortunately a mechanism through which the alcoholized brain and nerve centers of an even slightly intoxicated driver may function in a manner the more dangerous because it often passes unrecognized."

CLEAR AS MUD

THOSE who refuse to accept the theistic origin of man are expected to explain his origin. The following is the explanation given by Winfred Emery Allen, assistant professor of Biology in the University of California, in an article in Halde-man-Julius' paper, The American Freeman:

"Any one who thinks much about life is sure to wonder how it began. Various explanations have been proposed to account for its presence upon earth. The explanation which seems most probable to most scientists is to the effect that at some time (or possibly many times) certain small masses of chemical substances were thrown together under just the right conditions of temperature and pressure and other influences to cause them to unite into an unstable material which was constantly giving off some particles and taking on others which had a tendency (so long as conditions were favorable) to not only stay in existence but to slightly increase its complexity and its capacity for shifting particles here and there or in and out of its mass. Since the common opinion is that such masses of material must have been much smaller than anything that can be seen with a microscope, it may be readily understood that some scientists believe it quite possible that life may be originating in certain favored spots today, no less than at any former time. However, the usual assumption is that life as we know it had its beginning some millions of years ago and that its tendency (or at least the tendency of some of it) to develop into more and more complex forms of matters, has resulted in the production of myriads of kinds of living things, vast numbers of which have the great complexity with which we are so familiar in the living things of today."

This is not science; it is a mere assemblage of words which explain nothing. It is as clear as mud. Its lack of perspicuity proclaims the perspicacity of its ingenious author.

ALFRED NOYES, the English poet, recently before a body of educators in New York University, said: "The first need of modern education is to recover faith in God. With the central spiritual convictions of Christianity weakened, if not destroyed by the acids of modernity, nothing but certain conventions now separate us from complete moral chaos. . . . The writings of many modern authors, who are influencing youth, will do their deadly work unless Christendom reaffirms, through its educational process, the basis of all ethics—God."

Personal and Other Items

REV. E. K. SEWELL writes: "We are having a happy beginning of our fifth year at Marion."

REV. MARSHALL T. STEEL writes: "We are very happy at Monticello. The folks have been lovely to us. A six-pound boy, William Edward Steel, arrived on New Year's Eve. Mother and son are doing well."

REV. GEO. E. WILLIAMS writes from Stamps: "We have been most cordially received and are happily situated here. The church gave us a reception the night next after our arrival and many good things were sent in during the holidays."

DR. C. M. REVES, pastor of First Church, Little Rock, last week submitted to a surgical operation and spent several days in the Baptist Hospital. As this was written, on Tuesday, he was rapidly recovering, and expected shortly to be out.

MARRIED, at Oak Grove, December 25, Mr. Troy Raney of Oak Grove and Miss Nellie Lewis, of Bethesda, daughter of Rev. Hoy M. Lewis, the ceremony being performed by the father of the bride. The couple will live at Wiseman, where the groom is teaching.

THE North Georgia Conference, one of the greatest of our Conferences, last year raised for all purposes $2,216,798, which is $873,798 more than for the preceding year. That is surely a heartening report. If North Georgia can increase its collections, other Conferences can.

DR. IVAN LEE HOLT, pastor of our St. John's Church, St. Louis, is announced to address the Indiana State Pastors' Conference, at Indianapolis, Jan. 16. He is much in demand for speaking before various denominational bodies. Recently, at the Federal Council of Churches, he was one of the chief speakers.

LAST Sunday, having no appointments of his own, the editor visited Asbury Church at the morning hour and found a large congregation and heard an inspiring sermon by the new pastor, Rev. H. B. Vaught. At night, in spite of the very inclement weather there was a fair congregation at Winfield Church, and Rev. E. O. Heath, the new pastor, preached a helpful and suggestive sermon. The people of both churches seem to be well pleased with their pastors and the pastors reciprocate. Both start auspiciously.

REV. "BOB" SHULER, pastor of our Trinity Church, Los Angeles, who ran for the U. S. Senate on the Prohibition ticket in California, was defeated, but received the magnificent vote of approximately 600,000, and drew enough votes from the "dripping wet" Republican candidate to make possible the election of W. G. McAdoo, who has always been dry, and now is only slightly wet. "Bob" takes his defeat philosophically. He made a magnificent campaign and won the respect even of his opponents for his fair clean fight.

All matter for publication should be addressed to the Editor, and should reach the office Monday, or earlier, to insure appearance in the next issue. Obituaries should be brief and carefully written, and five cents a copy should be enclosed if extra copies containing an obituary are desired.

REV. E. H. HOOK, our pastor at Springdale, who is treasurer of the North Arkansas Conference Board of Finance, writes: "Some brethren are confused about what to do with one-half of the Christmas offering. It is to be sent to me for Conference claimants, but does not apply on endowment. The other half goes to our Orphanage at Little Rock."

REV. J. W. MOORE writes: "We are very happy in our new charge. The people at both Leachville and Manila have given us a splendid welcome. Each has given us an 'old-fashioned pounding' with everything good to eat and a five-dollar bill. It looked like a twenty to us. We have a fine people and expect great things this year. We have about one-third of our Benevolences in cash."

THE CIRCULATION CAMPAIGN

AS we go to press, reports come from many pastors that they are planning to put on a vigorous campaign. The Presiding Elders are behind their preachers, and are working for great results. At his District meeting on Monday, Dr. Thomas, in a very masterly and felicitous way, put the matter up to his preachers, assigned quotas to each charge, and pledged all to do their best to reach the goal, the Arkansas Methodist in every Methodist home in the District. He says it can be done, and he intends to see that it is done. It is hoped that by next issue some fine reports will come in. It should be remembered that in the second issue in February, every charge in Arkansas will be reported. Surely no pastor can afford to have a blank report. Let us see which District and which charge in each District will do the best.

ITEMS FROM THE BISHOPS' MEETING

AT the mid-year meeting of our Bishops, recently held at Shreveport, it was found that all of the Annual Conferences had voted on the constitutional amendment providing for a Judicial Council, and the vote for it was 5,098 and against it, only 1,146; consequently, having received more than the required three-fourths vote, it was declared adopted, and Bishop J. M. Moore, Dr. T. D. Ellis, and Judge J. T. Ellison of Alabama were appointed a committee to report to the next General Conference the changes in the Discipline that this amendment of our Constitution requires.

Strong resolutions on Prohibition were adopted.

It was found that, on account of the decreased income from Benevolences, the Episcopal Fund had suffered, along with other funds; hence the Bishops voted a reduction of one-sixth of their own salaries. This will be appreciated by the many pastors who have had to accept a severe reduction and by the loyal churches that feel the burden of the Benevolences and salaries.

Bishops Arthur J. Moore, McMurry, and Kern were appointed to co-operate with the Committee of the Commission on Benevolences in carrying out the plans for raising funds; and Bishops J. M. Moore, S. R. Hay, and Kern were selected to prepare an address on the present issues of the Church. Bishop John M. Moore was appointed to write the Episcopal Message to the next General Conference.

Under the rule Bishop A. J. Moore would become the presiding bishop for the coming half year, but as Bishop Kern, who would come next, would be out of the country when his time would come, he was elected to preside the first half, and Bishop A. J. Moore will take his turn the last half of the year.

While no accurate report of the membership was available it was stated that the increase during the past year had been substantial and gratifying.

Bishops Candler and DuBose were absent on account of physical indisposition, and Bishop Denny on account of the distance from his home.

BOOK REVIEWS

What Price Economic Adjustment; by James Davidson Dingwell, D. D.; published by the Christopher Publishing House, Boston, Mass.; price, $1.25.

The author of this book, which is arranged in dialogue form, is a man with wide experience and close contact with all classes in one of the world's largest industrial communities. Roger Babson, one of the world's business authorities, says in his introduction to this little book: "Words fail me to emphasize sufficiently the great importance of Dr. Dingwell's message. Capitalism, Socialism, Communism, Fascism, and all the other isms are mere tools. Any one of these systems, operated in the 'Christ way' would be an improvement over present conditions. On the other hand, any one of the systems of themselves, without the Christ spirit, is bound to fail—Once again I say that the only security is character and the only progress comes through its development."

The Cokesbury Party Book; by Arthur M. Depew; published by the Cokesbury Press, Nashville, Tenn.; price $1.50.

Fifty-two parties, each carefully planned and built around a central theme, complete as to every detail; that is what we find in this Cokesbury Party Book. Invitations, decorations, costumes, games, stunts and refreshments all come in for their share of attention. There are parties for special days and picnics and parties good for any days, parties for pleasure and parties for profit. The book is complete and very worthwhile for recreational directors. It is another example of the willingness and ability of Cokesbury Press to supply its people with the best of everything worth-while in books.

BETWEEN 1913 and 1931 the average price of residential electricity went down 33 per cent. In the same period the cost of living went up 46 per cent. Taxes paid by the electric industry per dollar of net revenue jumped 104 per cent. There is a comparison worth thinking about. A cut in the cost of government of only 5 per cent would mean a saving to the people of an amount greater than the entire domestic electric bill. The so-called "high cost of power" isn't in the same class with the very real high cost of government.—Ex.

INDUSTRY must learn the lesson of this depression. It must adopt preventive measures. If it fails, then the government will step in and either compel action by the industry or adopt remedies of its own. This is not threat. It is merely a statement of what the future is certain to hold in store.—Albert C. Ritchie.

Save Our Benevolent Work

It is well known that the missionary, educational, and other benevolent work of the Church is on the verge of collapse, due to the unprecedented decline in giving during the past three years. In 1932 we reached the lowest point in payments on the benevolent collections to which the Church ever fell. In three years the Board of Missions has lost half of its normal annual income and other Boards have suffered proportionately. In spite of repeated drastic cuts in salaries and other expenditures large deficits have been incurred and our work has suffered beyond description. Unless this downward movement is immediately checked, precious and essential interests will be wrecked.

In this emergency the General Commission on Benevolences, in consultation with our Bishops, has developed a plan which, it is hoped, will lighten the burden of the churches, stimulate the pride and morale of our people, and realize the funds so urgently needed to save our benevolent work.

The essentials of the new plan are as follows:

1. The Kingdom Extension cultivation, usually culminating in February, is to continue until Easter Sunday, April 16th.
2. There is to be a period of self-denial and a great Easter offering in all congregations.
3. All money raised in this collection is to be divided equally between the Kingdom Extension causes and the regular benevolent collections of the local church.
4. No definite quotas are assigned and no other special appeals will be made.

The churches will secure credit on their regular apportionments, General and Conference, for half the amount raised during this period. By thus early paying a large part of their Conference Collections, they will have less to raise at the end of the year and should be able to pay their benevolent obligations in full without great difficulty. At the same time they can make their regular Kingdom Extension Offering as required by the Discipline.

It is recognized that congregations have large liberty in these matters. They may determine for themselves what they will do for the Kingdom Extension causes, and they may set a date earlier than Easter for the offering if they prefer.

But most churches are loyal to the general movements of the whole Church, and all are especially urged to give active and thorough co-operation to the present plan. Those charged with the responsibility have devoted weeks of study to the situation, and all are agreed on this plan as the only way to save Methodism from defeat and disaster. Presiding Elders, pastors, and people are earnestly besought to give wholehearted support to all the features of the plan as they may be unfolded during the coming weeks, to the end that the glorious program of Methodism may not be further hindered but may continue to the glory of God.

Fraternally yours,

W. G. CRAM,

Chairman of the General Commission on Benevolences.

BISHOP PAUL B. KERN,

Director of the 1933 Campaign.

"CHRISTIAN FAITH AND LIFE"

By Bishop H. M. DuBose.

The church reviews and other theological publications, long counted of prime importance to religious thought and life, have demised, practically without exception, as a result of the current economic depression. "Christian Faith and Life," a monthly conservative theological journal of critical and discussion vigor, has weathered the storm; and is serving, through the free contributions of its editorial corps, an end of usefulness to the ministers of the evangelical churches. I have accepted without salary, the post of associate editor of this magazine, and am writing to commend it to the support of my fellow ministers in the South. You need "Faith and Life," and it needs you. The subscription price is $2 per year; 20 cents per copy. Send a full subscription, or order a single copy, at once. Send to Frank B. PROTEST OF BOARD OF TEMPERANCE AND SOCIAL SERVICE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH, AT SENATE SUB-COMMITTEE BEER HEARING

As the official representatives of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and of the 37 Annual Conferences of said Church, we file protest against the passage of the Collier Bill as attempting to legalize a beer of alcoholic content, which before the Eighteenth Amendment was recognized by society at large, by the medical profession generally, and by numerous court decisions as intoxicating.

The Eighteenth Amendment prohibits intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes and we insist that this bill is unconstitutional because it permits traffic in intoxicating beer. If it should be decided, as has been suggested, so to change the present bill as to provide that beer of more than 5.2 per cent be prohibited, we insist that such action would be a subterfuge unworthy of the highest legislative body of the country. — James Cannon, Jr., President; Eugene L. Crawford, General Secretary.

A STATEMENT BY THE EDUCATIONAL COUNCIL OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH

The Educational Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, composed of ministers and laymen representing the various educational forces of the Church, including our Young People's organizations, Sunday Schools, schools, colleges, and universities, feel it their privilege to give to the public the following statement of abiding convictions with reference to efforts now being made to bring back the legalized liquor traffic into the life of the people of America.

The abolition of the liquor traffic in community, in state, and then finally throughout the entire nation by the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment came through a long period of education.

This was not done suddenly. No effort was ever made by the moral forces of the country to stampede public opinion and hurry up this reform. The use of intoxicating liquors had been a century-old evil. The prophet Isaiah, far back in his day, had declared that because of it "Hell hath enlarged its desire and opened its mouth without measure; and their glory and their multitude and their pomp and he that rejoiceth among them descend into it." (Isaiah 5:11-15). The traffic in intoxicating liquors had been proved to be economically unsound and morally corrupt. Science had demonstrated alcohol to be a poison, harmful to the tissues of the body and hurtful to the brain. Through the Sunday School, the public schools, and the religious press of the country information with reference to the evils of drink had been disseminated, the pulpits of evangelical churches had warned against the use of intoxicating liquors and had pointed out the iniquity of the traffic in strong drink. For not less than three-quarters of a century this process of education had been going on, and this it was that finally aroused the economic common sense and the Christian conscience of the American people and at last made the legalized traffic in liquors an outlaw.

But now we witness an effort being made to stampede the people of our country into undoing in hysterical haste what had been accomplished only after a period of intelligent consideration covering not less than seventy-five years. By noise and clamor intended to drown the calm conclusions of reason and the imperative voice of conscience the friends of the liquor habit and the liquor traffic would set aside in a few days the verdict of scientific opinion and the mature judgment of Christian statesmen.

Against this effort to stampede America we register our solemn protest. In this regard the national conventions of the two major political parties were both grievous offenders, each having been organized to rout all opposition among the delegates and by the use of the radio to stampede the people of the United States. And not only so, the determined efforts of certain political leaders to hurry through the House of Representatives a measure repealing the Eighteenth Amendment was not only utterly lacking in dignity, but was also an affront to the moral forces of our land. But the forces of righteousness are not going to be stampeded. What the advocates of repeal fear above all else is the sober second thought of the voters and the moral judgment of the lovers of righteousness. They seek to force a vote before men have had time to consider the ultimate issues involved. But it shall not be so. Before the final decision is made, America will have had time to think; and while the ultimate decision is being reached the educational forces of the Church will be heard in the pulpit, the school room, the Sunday School, and the colleges of the land.

And this Educational Council would remind our constituency and the people of our common country that the overwhelming vote given the Democratic Party in the recent national election cannot possibly be construed as a mandate to bring back the legalized traffic in intoxicating liquors. At this point, also, we speak with knowledge and we warn the

Took CARDUI for Pains, Cramping

"I have taken Cardui for irregular trouble, also for pains and cramping, and it helps me," writes Mrs. Maxie Crumme, of Texarkana, Texas. "I gave Cardui to my daughters and it helped them very much. They had pains and cramps, and it did them good."

Cardui is given the credit for relieving so many cases of womanly suffering that it is widely and favorably known. Druggists, everywhere, sell it.

If you are weak, run-down, suffering monthly, take Cardui. Take it for a reasonable length of time and try it thoroughly. As your health improves, you will share the enthusiasm of thousands of women who have written to say: "Cardui helped me."

representatives of our people in Congress that they would do well to hear what we now say. We are nearer the people than they are; we are in touch with the opinions and interests of men and women and young people throughout all the borders of our Church. The people of the South do not desire the return of the saloon. The vast majority of our citizens here in the South are forever opposed to the legalized liquor traffic in any form.

What brought about the enormous shift in votes to the Democratic Party was the conviction that in the Democratic Party lay some possible hope with reference to the present economic distress. We know whereof we speak, for large numbers of these Democratic voters are loyal members of the Methodist Church forever opposed to the legalizing of the liquor business in our land. The mandate given the Democratic Party was to address itself immediately to the solution of our economic problems. It was for this that the Democratic Party was put into power. Here is its opportunity. But what we have recently seen in Washington holds out little hope in this direction. Blind leaders of the blind hasten to announce themselves as looking for relief in an effort to balance the budget with booze, and hush the cry of the hungry poor by making them drunk with beer, while rich men find relief from taxation by shifting the burden to the already breaking backs of the men who toil with their hands. Let it be repeated: The people of the South do not want the return of the traffic in liquor in any form. We noted with disappointment and disapproval how certain representatives recently voted in Congress. We advise them to give attention to the moral convictions of their constituency.

With respect to moral convictions, let it be remembered that moral principles do not change. Money cannot buy them, and popular clamor only serves to strengthen them.

It is a fact that liquor is an evil and only an evil. It is a fact that the legalized liquor traffic has always been the prolific mother of private immorality, political corruption, and public crime. Neither paid propaganda, nor hysterical clamor, nor political demagoguery can ever alter or change the facts and principles of the moral order. Here these facts and principles stand, and on them their opponents will find themselves ultimately broken in pieces. For, in the long run, moral principles have

TO LITTLE ROCK CONFERENCE MISSION AND BIBLE STUDY SUPERINTENDENTS

Dear Superintendent of Mission and Bible Study:

Many of you are beginning to plan your Study Classes for the new year. This is an appropriate time for us to be planning what directions shall be given regarding the use of the book for January-February. As women of the Church, it is appropriate that we should participate in these Classes whenever the pastor organizes them in his church as a whole. We do not use the book as a Woman's Missionary Study Text, though it can be used in a class of Women provided the Society can participate in Classes organized in the Church as a whole and have credit for the Study toward the Standard of Excellence. They may also have a Council Certificate where the work comes fully up to the Standard required for Council Certificate.

The Title of the book for the Jan-always prevailed. To them belong the eternal years of God. They are founded in the very nature of things. Whosoever strikes at the moral convictions of the people strikes rock—and the rock will stand.

We, therefore, call upon our preachers and teachers to take up the challenge with new vigor and determination. We resent the organized and highly-financed efforts that have been made, especially in the last four years, to intimidate and browbeat our moral and spiritual leaders. Let it be understood everywhere that the Church of Jesus Christ has always been the enemy of unrighteousness and the friend of man. The Methodist Church from its beginning has been the consistent foe of the liquor evil. The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, through many years, at every General Conference, has declared itself as the unrelenting enemy of intoxicating drinks. Here we have stood and here we shall ever stand. We recall, in this connection, the notable work done in the interest of prohibition by the late Chas. B. Galloway of Mississippi. The Honorable Jefferson Davis, at one time the beloved leader and idol of the South, standing on the traditional doctrine of individualism in politics and in religion, had taken Bishop Galloway to task and had called him a "political parson" because the Bishop had espoused the cause of prohibition and had called on his fellow countrymen to support for public office such men as stood for this great reform. But Galloway replied in memorable words: "If to preach against the whiskey traffic as the cause of most of the sorrow, crime, and shame of society, is to be a 'political parson,' I am content to be published as one now and forever." Here speaks the authentic voice of Southern Methodism. This, let it be understood, is the historic position of our Church, and standing here our political leaders will find us now and forever as in the past.

uary-February Campaign will be CHRIST AND THE COMING KINGDOM written by Dr. Quillian of the Board of Christian Education.

Many of the Societies have studied Living Issues in China, but have not written me for the report blank for Council recognition. There is still plenty of time to send it to me. If you have not done so, do it at once so that we may have as many Council Certificates awarded at our Annual Conference as formerly.

It is now time for our regular Quarterly report. I wish I might get a report from every Auxiliary in the Conference. Won't you send in your report at once?

I want to assure you of my deepest appreciation of you and your work in the Master's Kingdom. When I can serve you, let me know.—Mrs. A. R. McKinney, Conference Supt. Mission and Bible Study.

HIGHLAND AUXILIARY

The Society of Highland Church, met January 3rd, at 2 p. m. at the Church.

The devotional was conducted by the president, and the following officers were installed by Rev. Roy Fawcett: Mrs. T. W. Shaver, president; Mrs. C. C. Conner, vice-president; Mrs. Edna Vineyard, Corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. C. Revelley, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Stephens, treasurer; Mrs. E. M. Lenox, local treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Green, superintendent Missions; Mrs. Geo. Chance, supplies; Mrs. L. V. Frederick, Social Relations; Mrs. S. J. Steed, Publicity; Mrs. T. L. Adkins, general chairman circles; Mrs. L. J. Aclin, program chairman, after which regular business session was opened. The treasurer and local treasurer of 1932 made annual reports which were interesting and encouraging—as all obligations were met in full. Mrs. T. L. Adkins new Circle Chairman gave an outline of work for new year—which was accepted with the report of finance committee on budget for year.

An interesting letter, from Mrs. McKinney of El Dorado, in regard to Miss Willie May Porter's work in the Oil Fields near El Dorado and Camden, was read by Mrs. McCoy.

The Bulletin and World's Outlook were presented by Mrs. S. J. Steed—with an urge for every one to make special effort to subscribe for World's Outlook, everyone present was given a copy of December Issue, by Mrs. Steed.

Mrs. Shaver solicited hearty cooperation of all present, and the meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Adkins.—Mrs. S. J. Steed.

AN APPRECIATION OF MISS PORTER'S WORK

The nice check of $5.00 from Little Rock First Church Missionary Society to be applied on our Rural work has just been received and I want to express the sincere appreciation of the entire Rural Mission Board for this timely contribution to this splendid work. May God's richest blessings rest upon the membership of First Church Auxiliary for their interest and we do ask their continued prayers that the greatest amount of good possible may be accomplished this year in carrying the message of Christ to the hearts of the adults and children in these places where Miss Porter goes. New Sunday Schools, Bible Classes and Missionary Circles are being organized for many of those already begun are able to function without her entire supervision now. Many new contacts in the home life of a community are being made also. Miss Porter is much loved by those who know her in this work. I spent a Sunday afternoon with her recently, visiting two of her Sunday Schools and was gratified to see the interest manifested though there is so much to be done. On the way many children came out to the road side for her to give them literature and talk with her about the lessons she had given them before for them to study at home. In each instance some helpful, encouraging thought was left in their little minds. We went forty or fifty miles, much of it over rough country roads, passable now because the winter rains had not begun, though slippery roads do not deter her later on. In the forenoon she had gone eighteen miles in another direction to conduct a third Sunday School. She meets weekly with these three and then contacts several groups of children on the road side in her "Sunday School On the Way," as she calls it. I keep in close contact with all her work and could write much of her deeds of kindness and spiritual uplift to those so greatly needing it, did time and space permit.—Mrs. L. K. McKinney, Pres. Camden Dist. Rural Mission Board.

LITTLE ROCK FIRST CHURCH AUXILIARY

Mrs. J. R. McAllister, the retiring president gives a splendid and inspiring report on the year's work. She speaks of the difficulties encountered in carrying out the new council plans. She attributes the gratifying results obtained to the loyalty, energy and devotion of the membership under the efficient leadership of her co-workers.

Each leader in the several departments accomplished great things; Mrs. Clyde Dew in Mission Study, giving a new vision of missionary problems; Mrs. A. C. Gannaway ably directing the local work; Mrs. A. H. Hammann in charge of Christian Social relations, the secretaries, Mrs. L. F. Barrier and Mrs. John Gosnell; the treasurers, Mrs. P. L. Burrow and Mrs. Wallace Townsend; vice-presi-

Beal, chairman of parsonage committee; Mrs. A. M. Neal, director of children's work and Miss Ruth May, director of young people's work. In spite of the distressing conditions which have prevailed throughout the country this year's record is one of outstanding results.—Reporter.

NASHVILLE AUXILIARY

The Woman's Missionary Society met in regular business session on Jan. 2. Installation services were conducted by Rev. J. F. Simmons, pastor of the local church. The following officers will have charge of the work for another year.

President, Mrs. A. M. Reed; First Vice-President, Mrs. Lee Lane, Recording Secretary, Mrs. Fred Murphy; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. E. Craig; Treasurer, Mrs. J. J. Reeder; Local Treasurer, Mrs. P. B. Estes; Agent World Outlook, Mrs. J. M. Holt; Supt. of Children, Miss Cora Reed; Supt. of Social Service, Mrs. C. C. Beane; Supt. of Mission Study, Mrs. J. F. Simmons; Supt. of Supplies, Mrs. Dolph Martindale; Supt. of Publicity, Mrs. T. A. Hutchinson.—Supt. of Publicity.

CLARKSVILLE AUXILIARY

The Clarksville Auxiliary has held all regular and circle meetings. All well attended. Observed World Day of Prayer in connection with other churches. Also held federated meetings on every Fifth Thursday. Sent delegates to Conference and District meetings. The study class used the following books: "Methodism and World Needs," "The Open Gate to Prayer," "With Our Rain Shoes On," and "Facing the Future in Indian Missions." The committees on Supplies, and Social Relations have done good work. Supplies sent to institutions and preacher helped. The Sick, strangers and those in trouble have been visited, and the needy helped. The Inter-Racial Committee has made friendly visits to the Negro school. Literature and U. S. Flag given them. During the holidays a beautiful Christmas tree was arranged for the negro children, the gift of this committee. The Quarterly Church social, to which every woman of the church is invited, have included "Guest Day" and "Harvest Day." Splendid programs were given at these meetings. One item of special interest was the presentation of two missionary plays by members of the Society. They were very entertaining and instructive. Observed Week of Prayer. A party and Christmas shower was given the new pastor's wife. The Ora Jamison Bible Woman's fund was raised in full. Total amount of funds raised for all purposes was $221.80—Mrs. J. A. Dowdy, Supt. Pub.

EL DORADO, VANTREASE MEMORIAL AUXILIARY

The Vantrease Memorial Missionary Society met Jan. 2, at the church with a large attendance to greet the new year. Mrs. E. D. Galloway gave the devotional on "Christianizing the Unchristian Areas of Our Lives," and Mrs. J. W. Miller, retiring president, presided over an executive session during which the year's reports were heard.

The following new officers were installed: President, Mrs. M. S. Baldwin; Vice-President, Mrs. J. W. Perdue; Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. G. Boozer; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. W. Miller; Treasurer, Mrs. Jim Prothro; Supt. of Study, Mrs. B. C. Baldwin; Supt. of Social Service, Mrs. Fred Hamilton; Supt. of Supplies, Mrs. A. P. Griffing; Supt. of Children's Work, Mrs. D. B.

Griffin; Supt. Publicity, Mrs. Estes Reese.

Mrs. M. S. Baldwin, incoming president closed the meeting with a talk on "Our Good for the Year."—Mrs. Estes Reese.

MAMMOTH SPRING AUXILIARY

The Mammoth Spring Auxiliary met Thursday, Dec. 29, for the last program meeting of the year, in the home of Mrs. Arends. The very interesting program was led by Mrs. M. A. Wood.

There was a large number of members present and several of the members who had had birthdays during the last quarter were honored with a birthday party at the close of the program. The hostess, Mrs. Arends assisted by Mrs. Johnson, served delicious refreshments.

The year's work was closed with good reports and the society is entering the New Year with an increased membership and is hoping to make a greater success during the coming year.

The Mammoth Spring Auxiliary met on Jan. 5, in the home of our beloved retiring president, Mrs. C. H. Culver for installation of new officers for 1933. The installation service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Fred Chadwick. The following officers being installed: Pres., Mrs. Cloy Culver; Vice-Pres., Mrs. F. M. Daniel, Jr.; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. Sam Swope; Recording Sec., Mrs. Clinton Dixon; Conference Treas., Mrs. Cary; Local Treas., Miss Prussia Davidson; Supt. of Bible and Mission Study, Mrs. S. F. Whittaker; Supt. of Children's Work, Mrs. Chadwick; Supt. of Publicity, Mrs. J. N. Sutherland; Supt. Social Service, Mrs. H. S. Morris; Supt. of Supplies, Mrs. Ned Wood; Supt. of Local Work, Mrs. M. A. Wood.

The new President, appointed committees for various propositions that the Society hopes to be successful in accomplishing during the year.—Reporter.

A COLD PASSES THRU 3 STAGES

And It is Far Easier Relieved in the First than in the Second or Third Stages!

A COLD ordinarily progresses through three stages: The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Once a cold gets beyond the first stage it is far more difficult to relieve.

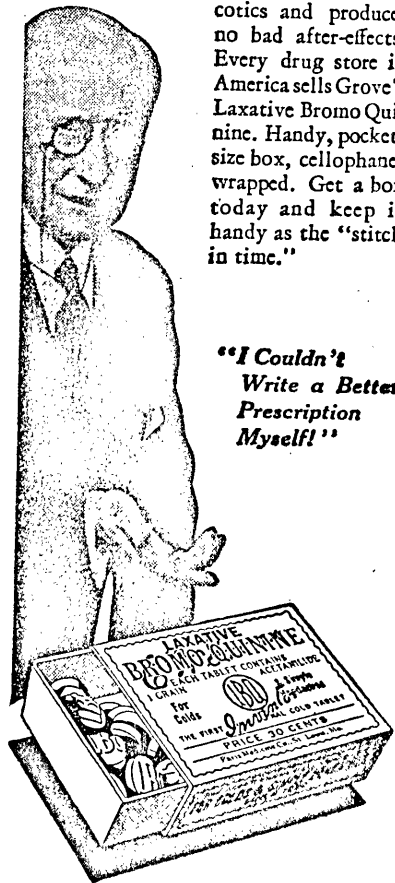

Fourfold Effect for Immediate Relief

The wise thing to do when you feel a cold coming on is to take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine stops a cold quickly because it does the four necessary things. It opens the bowels. It kills the cold germs and fever in the system. It relieves the headache and grippy feeling. It tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack. That is the treatment you want—complete, thorough and effective. Anything less is toying with a cold.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. It contains no narcotics and produces no bad after-effects. Every drug store in America sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Handy, pocket-size box, cellophane-wrapped. Get a box today and keep it handy as the "stitch in time."

HENDRIX COLLEGE NEWS

The cast for the play, "For He Had Great Possessions," by Dorothy Clarke Wilson, which was given here last Easter and which will be given January 15, in the First Methodist Church, at Fort Smith, has been announced by Miss Vivian Hill and rehearsals have begun.

Record sets containing a complete opera and two of the world's most famous symphonies have been received and will be used in the music department. The complete opera, "Aida," by Verdi will be studied, as will Beethoven's Third famous as the Eroica Symphony. His Fifth Symphony, known as "Fate Knocking at the Door," also is included in the set of seventy-five records.

The annual post-holiday dinner for the Hendrix Faculty and Hendrix Dames was given in the home of President and Mrs. Reynolds this year. Plates were served for about sixty guests.

Dr. Reynolds left Saturday for a two weeks' trip in the East. He will spend two or three days in Washington, about four days in Atlantic City, and the remainder of the time in New York City. While in Atlantic City he will address the Association of American Colleges on consolidation as a means of meeting the immediate financial problems of colleges. He will also attend the meeting of the Liberal Arts College Movement of America and address that body on methods of permanent fund raising for colleges.—Reporter.

BISHOP KERN SECURED FOR PASTORS' SCHOOL

The Arkansas Pastors' School, which will be held at Hendrix College, June 5-16, should be the greatest School we have held in a quadrennium. A splendid faculty is being lined up and we have already secured as our inspirational speakers: Dr. Ralph Sockman, of New York City, for the first week; Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, for the week end; and, Bishop Paul B. Kern for the second week.

Possibly we have never had such an attractive schedule of public addresses as has been arranged for this year. We urge all of our preachers, in planning their year's work, to set

NOW! EASE A SORE THROAT INSTANTLY

Feel Rawness, Irritation, Go At Once

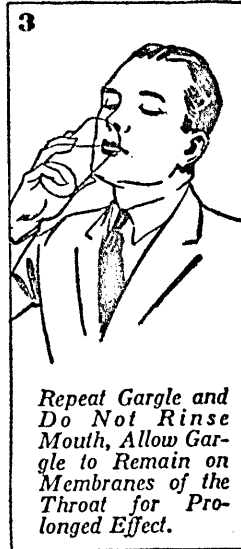

These Pictures Tell You What To Do

Crush and Dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in Half a Glass of Water.

GARGLE Thoroughly—Throw Your Head Way Back, Allowing a Little to Trickle Down Your Throat.

Repeat Gargle and Do Not Rinse Mouth, Allow Gargle to Remain on Membranes of the Throat for Prolonged Effect.

Remember Only Medicine Helps A Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes.

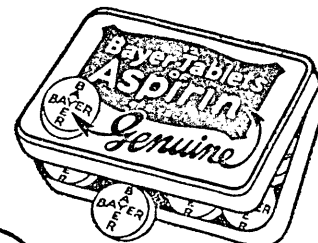

Results are among the most extraordinary in medical science. On doctors' advice, millions are following this way... discarding old-time "washes" and "antiseptics." For it has been found that only medicine can help a sore throat.

Simple To Do. All you do is crush and dissolve three BAYER Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water. Gargle with it twice—as pictured above. If you have any indication of a cold—before gargling take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a full glass of water. This is to combat any signs of cold that have gone into your system. Keep on taking if cold has a "hold." For Genuine Bayer Aspirin will not harm you. Your doctor will tell you, it does not depress the heart. Get a box of 12 or a bottle of 100 at any drug store.

Reduces Infection, Eases Pain Instantly. Gargling with Bayer Aspirin will do three things: Relieve soreness at once. Allay inflammation. AND—reduce infection; which is the important thing in fighting a sore throat.

It requires medicine—like BAYER ASPIRIN—to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout America are prescribing this BAYER gargle in place of old-time ways. Results are quick and amazing.

Be careful, however, that you get real BAYER Aspirin Tablets for this purpose. For they dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles. Watch this when you buy.

LITTLE ROCK CONFERENCE YOUNG PEOPLE'S COUNCIL

The Little Rock Conference Young People's Council held its quarterly meeting at First Church, Little Rock, December 31. Present: Gregg Hamilton, Hallie Oates, LeMary Hogan, Mrs. Fred Harrison, Clem Baker, S. T. Baugh, Allene Wakley, Fred Harrison, Ramy Garland, Mary Turner, Don Marlan.

Splendid reports for the last quarter were made. An interesting account of their visit to the General Educational Council was given by President Hamilton and Mary Turner. Plans were made for the observance of Anniversary Day and for

MISS SKINNER MEETS WITH CHILDREN'S DIRECTORS

Gardner Memorial Church was a hospitable meeting place, (Dec. 30 and 31st) for the District Directors of Children's work in the North Arkansas Conference. The workers came together to lay definite plans for giving the best to our children in 1933. Those present were Miss Lula Doyle Baird of Conway District, Mrs. J. H. O'Bryant of Fayetteville District, Mrs. B. L. Ware of Fort Smith District, Mrs. Ethan Dodgen of Helena District, Mrs. Jennie Bea Nesler of Paragould District and Miss Mae Weiss Bell of Searcy District. Messages were read from Mrs. F. M. Tolleson of Booneville District, Mrs.

M. E. Moore of Batesville District and Mrs. Preston Hatcher of Jonesboro District, as they were unable to be present, Mrs. Clay E. Smith and Miss Faye McRae were distinguished visitors from the Little Rock Conference.

Miss Mary Skinner, General Director of Children's Work, Nashville, Tenn., was present to lead round-table discussions on "Trends in Children's Work" and "District Director's Note Book for 1933," and to guide us in worship services which filled us with an urging desire to catch step with the music of the Infinite and with each other as Children's Workers. It was a great privilege to have her with us.

Reverend J. W. Crichtlow, Presiding Elder of the Conway District, after a period of Fellowship Friday, led us in a devotional, and discussed "How Can Your Presiding Elder Help the District Directors?" Miss Lula Doyle Baird led a discussion on "What Can the District Director of Children's Work Do?"

Rev. Sam Wiggins, Presiding Elder of Jonesboro District, led the Saturday morning devotional, and discussed "The Relationship of the Pastor and Presiding Elder to the District Program of Children's Work." Miss Mae Wess Bell gave her experience in Vacation Schools last year. The group expressed the hope that vacation Church schools be doubled this year.

These District Directors of Children's Work are an intelligent and enthusiastic group. With the co-operation of Miss Skinner and our Nashville workers, of our Presiding Elders and Pastors, and of our Children's Superintendents and teachers in the local churches, and God leading us, results not yet dreamed of can be accomplished with our children.—Mrs. Ira A. Brumley, Conf. Dir. Children's Work, North Ark. Conference.

MISS SKINNER MEETS WITH LOCAL WORKERS

Miss Lula Doyle Baird, Conway District Director of Children's Work presided at a meeting Saturday afternoon, December 31, at Gardner Memorial Methodist Church. Local workers from Conway, First Church, North Little Rock, First Church, Gardner Memorial, Washington Ave., and Cabot, were present.

Rev. F. A. Lark led a period of worship, after which Miss Baird introduced the Conference Director of Children's Work, who in turn introduced Miss Mary Skinner of Nashville, Tenn. Miss Skinner spoke interestingly and helpfully on problems in the religious education of Children, as suggested by the group.

Miss Baird expressed herself as desirous of meeting with local church workers of Conway District to talk over problems. So write her to visit your Church School for a Conference with you.—Mrs. Ira A. Brumley, Conf. Dir. Children's Work, North Arkansas Conference.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S ANNIVERSARY

In keeping with suggestions of our General Board the Young People of the Little Rock Conference have set Sunday, March 26, as the time for a Conference-wide observance of Young People's Day. Programs will be ready soon and will be distributed from this office. Our young people are expecting every preacher and every congregation in the Conference to join in making this a great occasion this year.—Clem Baker.

SUMMER ASSEMBLY, JUNE 19-23

The Summer Assembly for the Young People of the Little Rock Conference will be held at Hendrix College, the week of June 19-23. Already plans are being matured to make this an even greater Assembly than has ever been held in our Conference. The young people in all the churches should begin to raise funds to send at least one delegate; larger churches to send several.—Clem Baker.

A GOOD MEETING AT CARLISLE

In company with our Conference Chairman, Mr. C. E. Hayes, I went to Carlisle, Thursday night, and participated in one of the most pleasant occasions I have shared in this year.

The Workers' Council of the Methodist Church, led by the superintendent, A. G. Thompson, and pastor, W. R. Boyd, had invited the Sunday School workers from the other churches for a fellowship dinner and inspirational meeting. The attendance was large, the dinner was good, and Mr. Hayes and I received a beautiful response to the messages we attempted to bring.—Clem Baker.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR OUR METHODIST ORPHANAGE

Since the weeks leading up to and the Sunday including Christmas were so unfavorable in the point of attendance, and since such a small percent of our people had a chance to make a Christmas Offering for our Orphanage, it is earnestly urged that all of our Sunday Schools, Young People's Organizations, Preaching Congregations, and other meetings keep this sacred Home before our people until every individual has had an opportunity to make his personal contribution.

At First Church, Little Rock, where the offering has already exceeded that of last year by $50.00, it has been agreed to use the fifth Sunday in January for this follow-up appeal. It might be well for other churches to use this Sunday. Anyway, this cause is so sacred and our resources are so limited this year we trust that no preacher will be satisfied until every effort has been exhausted to raise a good collection.—Clem Baker.

—JAMES THOMAS, Supt.

LITTLE ROCK DISTRICT KINGDOM INSTITUTE AND BROTHERHOOD.

The Institute and Brotherhood met at First Church, January 9, with Presiding Elder James Thomas, D.D., in the chair. After singing and prayer by Dr. Thomas, many testimonies were given, and Dr. Thomas read Scripture selections and commented pertinently and effectively.

After roll call and reading of minutes, letters from Senators Robinson and Caraway and Congressman Ragon and Mrs. J. B. Stevenson were read, and an offering taken to pay for telegrams.

The charges were called and the attendance from each was noted, totaling about 100. Dr. Thomas explained the plan for handling the Benevolences and Kingdom Extension, and was followed by Dr. A. C. Millar, J. S. M. Cannon, and Rev. S. T. Baugh. The study books were distributed and order blanks collected.

Dr. Thomas then made a spirited address on the campaign for the Arkansas Methodist in January and apportioned quotas of subscribers to be secured by each charge, the total being 1885, and insisted that these quotas must be obtained, promising the fullest co-operation on his part. Dr. Millar made an explanatory statement. The pastors present accepted their quotas and indicated their purpose to go after them in earnest.

The following were introduced: Rev. E. O. Heath, Rev. J. L. Criswell and wife and daughter, and Mr. Watts of Keo. Rev. Clem Baker announced an extension of time for taking offerings for the Orphanage. Dr. Thomas read resolutions adopted by the Little Rock Conference Presiding Elders concerning the offerings for the Orphanage and Evangelism, and Rev. Leland Clegg spoke on Evangelism.

After a few minutes in social converse, a delicious luncheon given by the ladies of First Church, was enjoyed. The secretary was authorized to write to Dr. C. M. Reves who was ill and in the Baptist hospital.

After the luncheon a layman's meeting was held with Mr. C. K. Wilkerson, District lay-leader, presiding and leading. Most of the pastors remained, and a very profitable interchange of ideas ensued. The laymen accepted the challenge of the Church to meet the financial obligations and co-operate in a program of Evangelism.

ARKADELPHIA DISTRICT KINGDOM EXTENSION INSTITUTE

For the first time in fifteen years I was unable to attend all the Kingdom Extension Institutes this year. It was my happy privilege, however, to attend the one held by Brother Henderson, for the Arkadelphia District, at Malvern, last Friday.

As usual, Brother Henderson had a great meeting. The attendance was large, the spirit fine and every indication points to a wonderful year for this veteran Presiding Elder in his home district.

I like the plan to be followed whereby we jointly promote the Kingdom Extension and the General and Conference Claims, headed up with the cash offering to be divided 50-50 at the close of the cultural period.—Clem Baker.

MONTICELLO DISTRICT MEETING

The Kingdom Extension meeting for the Monticello District, was held at McGehee, January 2. The attendance was fine; the spirit of the Conference hopeful and optimistic. Rev. J. M. Hamilton, Presiding Elder, is leading that great District in a fine way, and preachers and people are delighted to follow him.

Mr. J. S. M. Cannon, Conference Lay Leader, and the writer were present and represented the interests committed to us. We were delighted with the meeting.—S. T. Bauch, Ext. Sec.

CAMDEN DISTRICT MEETING

The Kingdom Extension meeting for the Camden District was held in the new church at Camden, with a good attendance, and splendid interest. Rev. J. L. Dedman, Presiding Elder, is leading the Camden District in a fine way, and we found the same fine hopeful optimistic outlook among both preachers and laymen.

Mr. J. S. M. Cannon, Conference

Lay Leader, and the writer represented the Special Cultivation Period and the Love offering, which, this year, is combined with the Benevolences. We were delighted with this meeting, which was held January 3. We drove from Camden to Texarkana that afternoon in order to attend the Texarkana District meeting the next day—S. T. Bauch, Ext. Sec.

TEXARKANA DISTRICT MEETING

The Kingdom Extension Meeting for the Texarkana District was held in First Church, Texarkana, January 4, with a good attendance. Rev. Harold D. Sadler, the new Presiding Elder, presided and led the meeting like a veteran. The preachers and laymen of that great District have learned to love their new elder and gladly follow his leadership.

Mr. J. S. M. Cannon, Conference Lay Leader, and the writer were present representing the special effort, and were delighted to find the same fine hopeful outlook upon the work of the Church as we found at the other meetings.—S. T. Bauch, Ext. Sec.

PRESCOTT DISTRICT MEETING

The Kingdom Extension Meeting for the Prescott District was held at Prescott, January 5, with good attendance. Rev. L. E. N. Hundley, Presiding Elder is leading his preachers and people of that great District in a fine way.

The special effort was represented by Mr. J. S. M. Cannon, Conference Lay Leader, and the writer. We found the same hopeful outlook among preachers and laymen of this District that we found in every other District—S. T. Bauch, Ext. Sec.

CAMDEN DISTRICT KINGDOM EXTENSION INSTITUTE.

The preachers and laymen of the Camden District met at First Church, Camden, January 3. Rev. J. L. Dedman, presiding elder, called the meeting to order and Rev. A. E. Jacobs led in prayer.

Rev. J. L. Dedman conducted the devotional. Luke 17:7-11 was the Scripture upon which he based his appeal for the preachers to lose sight of themselves in carrying to fulfillment the great program of the Church this year.

Mr. W. E. Silliman, District Lay Leader, was presented, and introduced Mr. J. S. M. Cannon, Conference lay leader.

Brother Cannon spoke of the work of the laymen of the Church and gave the plan for Kingdom Extension and Conference Apportionment on Benevolences. This included the cultivation period beginning in January and leading up to Easter, and the Offering to be taken then.

The following were present: Pastors 19, Preachers' wives, 8, Charge Lay-leaders, 5, W. M. S. Presidents, 3, League Presidents, 3, Young Peoples Division Presidents, 1, Laymen's wives, 1, Superannuate Preachers, 3.

Rev. S. T. Bauch was presented and gave an inspiring address on the country Church. He urged that Christian platitudes be translated into life.

Brothers Scott, Harrell and Sage, our honored Superannuates were called to the chancel and gave brief addresses.

These brethren are held in very high esteem among us. May they have many happy years in the sunset of life.

Rev. George N. Cannon, a gifted local preacher, of Stephens, sang a hymn of his own composition, "Give Us Men," dedicated to the Superannuates.

The ladies of Camden Church served a bountiful luncheon which was enjoyed by all. We gave them a vote of thanks; but we will also remember them and pray that the Father may continue His blessings upon them.

Not a discouraging note was heard throughout the entire program—A. E. Jacobs, Sec.

WOMEN AND PROHIBITION

The Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, through its chairman, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, requests Church and Missionary groups of women to send representatives to their State Capitol to appear before the Legislature against any further repeal of State Laws, and for restoration of those laws where they have been repealed. Unless women are aroused to the danger of the Beer Bill now under consideration in Congress, and are ready not only to pray but to act in accordance with the plans under way, there is little hope of protection of children and homes against this old enemy.

Watch for notices of the meeting in your state capital, and prepare to send delegations of women. Representatives of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement will be present to present plans. There will be one day sessions in every state capital possible.

MATERIAL FOR RACE RELATIONS SUNDAY

According to annual custom February 12 has been designated Race Relations Sunday and will be widely observed in churches throughout the country by special sermons, addresses, and programs. For the use of preachers and others interested in putting on such programs, the Commission on Interracial Co-operation, with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., has prepared a selection of pamphlets dealing with various phases of this subject, together with suggestions as to how they may be used most effectively.

This selection includes "The Racial Situation in America," "The Negro in the New South," "Negro Progress Since Emancipation," "Recent Trends in Race Relations," "Southern Opinion," "America's Tenth Man," "The Bible and Race Relations," "Southerners Impeach Judge Lynch," and other interesting titles.

The package includes twelve different booklets, aggregating nearly a hundred pages of printing. The Commission makes no charge for this material, but will appreciate the inclusion of ten cents in payment of postage.

Rev. L. W. Evans has a remedy for coughs caused by T. B., colds, pneumonia or influenza, also malaria, chronic or otherwise, that is worth investigating. Address him at 1818 West Tenth St., Pine Bluff, Ark.

Half the Expected Market for Beer Does Not Exist Today

(This appeared November 18, 1932 in Brewery Industry, published in New York City.)

When beer comes back, what is the first step brewers will take to restore temperate drinking among the youth of the land? It is a responsibility the brewers must assume under the new order—probably their most important public responsibility. Also it is essential in restoring beer to its former popularity.

Obviously, there must be a campaign of education and the one field in which this can be conducted is, fortunately, the most important of all for immediate and future business—the colleges.

While the influence of the undergraduate dominates youth in all activities, it is most powerful in beverages.

Before prohibition, beer was regarded as a concomitant of a college career. For the past thirteen years college youth have been poisoning themselves with "alky," "corn," etc.

Not one-tenth of one per cent of the youth in college know what really good American beer tastes like. To them it is little more than a name. They will have to be educated. Even the majority of American youthful visitors to or resident students in Munich, Heidelberg, Edinburgh, Quebec, etc., do not appreciate good beer, simply because they do not know how to use it, or have not acquired the taste.

For thirteen years they have been drinking in the colleges and elsewhere for a "kick"—not to enjoy a beverage. This is the distinction between intemperance and temperance.

Distinguished college presidents like Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia, John G. Hibben, of Princeton, James R. Angell, of Yale, and E. M. Hopkins, of Dartmouth, have vigorously fought the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act, but it is easier to win men of their intelligence over than to change the tastes of the undergraduates, perverted and vitiated by the vicious bootleg liquor.

But beer can be restored to its former favor in colleges, which means the youth of the land. It cannot be done over night.

So it seems that elemental reasoning makes it plain that the brewers should begin their publicity campaign in the College Newspapers as soon as it can be prepared.

It should be a co-operative campaign to sell beer, to create a vigorous demand for good legal beer before it can be supplied to them, to make them avid for it. It is one of the few instances when it is wise to create a demand that cannot be supplied.

Then when the law makes beer legal, the individual brewers can sell their particular products.

This company, formed by Littell-Murray-Barnhill, Inc., and Collegiate Special Advertising Agency, is ready and anxious to serve the brewing and advertising industries. In this organization is one of the few men who understands both public reactions and college youth.
